Blast, Fire Destroy Homes; 20 Injured

(Two pages of pictures on Pages 32 and 33.)

By GARY SCHNEIDER and WALTER F. STRANGE

War-like devastation ravaged part of the 800 block of Madison Avenue in Madison at 2:20 a.m. Tuesday when a still unexplained explosion in the basement of an unoccupied home set fire to adjacent residential and commercial buildings. The lack of fatalities was viewed by many as a near-miracle.

Twenty persons were cut and injured, none seriously and property damage exceeded $50,000.

Residents of a wide area were jolted awake by the blast, and its concussion broke windows as far as several blocks away. Theories as to the cause include a gas explosion, but an investigation has failed to pinpoint any leaks in the gas line.

"I thought it was the end of the world," the reaction voiced by Mrs Betty Chrusciel, 815 Madison Ave., was typical.

Many persons in the block were knocked to the floor, some being showered by broken glass and others struck by parts of ceilings, walls or furniture.

The principal area affected by the explosion and fire consisted of:

Fina service station, 801 Madison, damaged.

Two-story frame home of Arlie Hartline, 809 Madison, burned.

One-story, two-apartment unoccupied frame dwelling owned by Hartline, 811-13 Madison, destroyed by explosion.

One-story frame home of John Chrusciel, 815 Madison, burned.

Two-story frame residence at 817 Madison avenue, Mrs. Sarah Roberts family downstairs and Rose Davis family upstairs, also burned.

And the Four-way Food Shop, 819 Madison, a concrete block building gutted by flames.

Madison Patrolman Marvin Owca had just passed the area a few seconds before the blast in a northbound squad car. He was patroling at Tenth Street and Madison Avenue when the explosion lifted the left side of the police car off the pavement.

"When I looked, there was a column of flame 500 feet high," he told the Press-Record.

"Arriving at the scene, I found that the house at 813 Madison was completely gone and the homes on both sides were ablaze."

He radioed for the Madison fire department and requested assistance from other Madison officers and from Granite City and Venice police. Off-duty Madison police also responded to the call, as did the sheriff's staff and state police.

"Debris was falling on top of the squad car, and it was so hot all I could do was yell at the people to get out," he said. As other officers arrived, the evacuation continued and the street was blocked to traffic.

Owca stepped on a nail and was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for a puncture wound to the right foot.

Also treated was Fireman James Shipcoff, 58, of 1601 Sixth St., who was hurt when a fire hose broke loose and struck his left eye.

Mrs. Bessie Bogleff, 63, of 821 Madison, was admitted to the hospital's intensive care unit for treatment of tightness to her chest.

Children from 817 Madison admitted with injuries were: Robin Downs, 11, multiple cuts to her face, head, legs, feet and left hand; Tina Downs, nine, cut to the bridge of the nose; and Juanita Downs, five, contusions to the left side of the face. The three were released Tuesday afternoon.

Also admitted was Helen Easton, 22, of the same address, who suffered cuts to her right hand and leg and pain in her right shoulder.

Others residing at the 817 address who were injured and treated at the hospital were: Ethel Briggs, 46, abrasions to left index finger; Darren Downs, eight, multiple abrasions; Danny Downs, 13, abrasions to his chest and a contusion to his head; Fred Hinson, 20, an eye injury; and his wife, Roxann Hinson, 21, a small cut to her right foot.

Examined and released without significant injuries was Tracey Davis, two, of the 817 address.

Occupants of 815 Madison who were injured were Mrs. Betty Chrusciel, 33, her 19-month-old son, Carl, her nine-year-old son, David Hayden; and her 11-year-old son, John Hayden. Other sons, ages three, 13, 15 and 17, were not injured.

Mrs. Chrusciel suffered an injury from a nail and abrasions to her feet. David Hayden had abrasions to his left knee and John Hayden a contusion to his right knee. All were released.

Also injured were Beverly Clark, 35, and Charles Clark,

Red Cross Giving Aid

American Red Cross disaster assistance has been arranged for victims of Tuesday's Madison explosion and fire by the Tri-City Chapter.

James Grubbs, regional field representative from St. Louis, said those requiring food, clothing or shelter are to contact the Red Cross chapter office at 1411 Twenty-First St., Granite City.

Red Cross officials conferred this week with Mayor Mike Sasyk and Police Chief Frank Dutko to review the scope of the blast and fire damage.

Two Drivers Injured In Route 203 Mishap

John E. Seibold, 46, of 1700 Breman Ave. and Woodrow F. Hawn, 59, 4713 Vincent St. were admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital following an auto accident at 11:15 p.m. Wednesday at Route 203 and Ferguson Road.

Hawn suffered abrasions of the forehead and cuts to the left elbow. X-rays were taken. Seibold sustained a cut to the lower lip.

Seibold was westbound on Route 203 and Hawn's car was traveling east.

Air Conditioner Burns

Fire destroyed an air conditioner and caused about $150 damage to the mobile home of Vera Demant, 244 Sunny Shores Mobile Home Park, at 10:40 p.m. Monday.

Hospital to Be Trauma Center

By Press-Record Staff Photographer

STATE DESIGNATION of St. Elizabeth Hospital as a Trauma Center is presented to Dr. Obert M. Lay, center, who will serve as trauma coordinator, by Donald W. Lenz, assistant hospital administrator. At left is Evelyn Robertson, RN, emergency room nurse. The center here will be part of a statewide network of emergency medical service programs initiated by the Illinois Department of Public Health. (Related photos on Page 4.)

St. Elizabeth Hospital in Granite City has been designated by the state of Illinois as a Trauma Center, one of several to be located throughout the state in the development of a network of emergency medical service programs, it was announced today.

Hospital authorities were notified of the designation by Dr. David Boyd, chief of the Illinois Division of Emergency Medical Services and Highway Safety.

The state trauma plan is being set up under a proposal by Governor Richard B. Ogilvie due to the increasing number of trauma injuries and deaths in Illinois. Hospitals designated as trauma centers will serve as the hub of the emergency medical service programs and must meet rigid qualifications in services and facilities.

Hospital officials pointed out that St. Elizabeth Hospital is well equipped to provide this type of medical care.

Dr. Lay Coordinator

Dr. Obert M. Lay will serve as trauma coordinator at St. Elizabeth.

The hospital recently completed a 14 million dollar addition which houses an ultra-modern emergency room. The emergency room, which treated 26,065 patients during the past year, has seven treatment and examining rooms, an observation room, tub and cast rooms, and a trauma room which is equipped for minor surgery.

The emergency room has physician coverage 24 hours a day, so a doctor always is present for emergencies.

The trauma system calls for a sophisticated communications network to facilitate possible treatment to the patient while enroute to the hospital by the ambulance attendant. To comply with these suggestions, St. Elizabeth Hospital has a two-way radio system which allows the ambulance drivers to communicate with the physician on duty if necessary.

The hospital also has a respiratory therapy unit to handle cases of cardiac arrest, a physical therapy unit and an intensive care unit which includes 12 beds with visual monitoring equipment for full-time observation of critical cases. The emergency room also is equipped with monitoring equipment.

The trauma system also calls for ancillary services including laboratory, x-ray and pharmacy to be properly staffed at all times. The x-ray department is physically adjacent to the emergency room.

St. Elizabeth Hospital now is better equipped to treat trauma patients because of the close proximity and sophisticated services now available in the x-ray department. The x-ray department now has a Cobalt Theratron Unit and a Nuclear medicine service, in addition to the typical x-ray machinery necessary to equip a 400-bed hospital.

20-Cent City Tax Rate Hike

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer

The 1971 tax rate upon which Granite City taxpayers will pay tax bills this summer has been extended at $1.213 per $100 assessed valuation — an increase of 20¢ over last year's city rate and a raise of 3% over the overall property tax total—city council members were informed Monday night.

The new rate is 20.1 cents higher than the rate of $1.012 extended last year, although the 1971 tax levy upon which the new rate is based was $688,231 less than the 1970 levy.

In a notice to city council members, County Clerk Eulalia Hotz also announced extension of a rate of 18.2 cents per $100 assessed valuation for Granite City township. The township rate is .4 of one cent less than the 1970 rate of 18.6 cents.

Both the city and township rates were computed against an assessed valuation of $176,982,-714 for the 1971 year, compared to total valuations of $169,726,-952 for 1970. This is an increase of $7,255,762 over assessments in Granite City for the previous year.

The higher rate will cost Granite City taxpayers an additional $20.30 on each $10,000 assessed valuation in city taxes alone. Tax rates for other agencies in Granite City have not yet been announced.

The higher city tax rate results primarily from application of the home rule status by the city of Granite City, a constitutional provision that eliminates tax rate limitations formerly fixed by state statutes.

An example of the elimination of rate limits is shown in the city's 1971 rate for maintenance of sewers which is set at 9.85 cents per $100 assessed valuation against a tax levy of $166,000.

Prior to the adoption of home rule status, the city was limited by statute to a rate of 2 cents for sewer maintenance. As a result, the city's 1970 rate for sewer maintenance was 2 cents under a tax levy of $133,540.

Thus, the rise in the sewer maintenance rate this year accounts for 7.85 cents of the total rate increase.

Another 4.48 cents of the increase is in the street and bridge fund which has a new tax rate of 10.08 cents based on a tax levy of $169,726. Last year's rate was 6 cents, based on a tax levy of $416,256.

The difference in the tax levy also results from the home rule procedure of levying only for the amount of taxes needed to supplement the costs of a city department. In the past, the full amount of budgeted items was extended in the levy, although part of the operational revenue comes from sources other than taxes.

A breakdown of the new city tax rate, with last year's comparison figures in parenthesis, is as follows:

General fund, 25.2 cents (25); hydrant rental, 1.2 cents (1.55); street lighting, 4.16 cents (4.34); fire protection, 15.11 cents (15); street and bridge, 10.88 cents (6); insurance and judgments,

47 DAYS WITHOUT A QUAD-CITY TRAFFIC FATALITY

Mrs. McCarty 'Mom of Year' At University

A Granite City woman who works as a nurse at two elementary schools has been named "Mom of the Year" by students of the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. Mrs. Ruth McCarty, 2101 Glen Drive, was nominated by her daughter, Mary, a sophomore in speech and hearing science. The selection was announced to U. of I. Mothers Association county chairmen.

Mrs. McCarty will be honored at the association's annual meeting Saturday and, during the weekend, will represent student mothers at many events.

The 1972 Illini "mom of the year" is a nurse at Maryville and Marshall schools elementary schools in Granite City and is the mother of three children.

The basic reason Miss McCarty gave for nominating her mother was, 'I think she's great and I love her."

"And I know, whether by official proclamation or not, there are three people who will always consider her to be their 'mom of the year,'" she said.

Mother and daughter, she said, have "a togetherness that is one of the best parts of our relationship."

Miss McCarty praised her mother for encouraging each of her children to attend college. Two brothers have graduated—Michael from Illinois State University in 1968 and Christopher from the U. of I. in 1970.

Mrs. McCarty has been a widow since her children were quite young. Nevertheless, she managed to work full time, care for her chidlren and remain active in civic, church and professional groups.

She is health chairman of the Granite City Area Council of PTAs and an officer in the American Federation of Teachers. She belongs to an advisory board of St. Elizabeth Hospital, the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Christian Women's Fellowship of Central Christian Church.

Her daughter is a member of Sigma Alpha Eta, a professional society for students in speech and hearing science, and Zeta Phi Eta, a professional speech honorary. She has been active in the Toad Hall Coffee House, sponsored by the McKinley Foundation, and in the Krannert Center Students Association.

Planning Okayed For Repair of Levee Garage

Preparation of plans and specifications for repair of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District garage in East St. Louis was authorized by the levee board in a meeting yesterday.

The garage was damaged extensively by an explosion in the Alton & Southern railroad yards at East St. Louis on Jan. 22. Part of the building has been condemned for use until repairs are made.

The levee board also took under advisement a proposal by Cahokia Mayor Robert Jackson that the village take over operation of two lift stations maintained by the levee district. Jackson said there are 19 lift stations in the Cahokia area and all but two are operated and maintained by the village.

Cahokia officials have indicated they will oppose an increase in sewer rental fees for the Cahokia sewage treatment plant. Although rate increases approved by the levee district increase individual user rates to $2.20 per month at the Cahokia plant, increases for Venice and Madison sewer users were held to 37 cents. Venice and Madison sewage treatment is handled at the levee district's Lansdowne plant.

The Venice-Madison sewer fee, originally $1.15 per month, has been raised to $1.52 per month, according to William "Mike" Ebersoldt, Venice, president of the levee board.

The trustees yesterday also asked Horner & Shifrin engineers to study a proposal by Swift & Co. that the company be permitted to tie in to the district's Lansdowne sewage treatment plant.

SIU Board Likely to Appoint Staff Aide

A position budgeted a year ago for the office of the Board of Trustees of Southern Illinois University may soon be filled by a member of the staff of the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

James Brown, chief of the SIU board staff, said Wednesday that the SIU Board will be asked to approve, probably in June, appointment of H. Edward Flentje, 30, as deputy chief of board staff. Flentje has been the Higher Board's associate director of programs since September 1969.

The new position was established, Brown said, because of increasing complexities and time-consuming demands of Board Staff responsibilities. Brown represents the SIU Board at conferences, committee meetings and hearings in Chicago and Springfield and meets frequently with board members individually and in committees. He submits all matters to be considered for Board action in formal meetings.

Although the two SIU campus presidents have direct access to the board, they work closely with Brown on board and system matters.

Blast

17, of 802 Grand Avenue, directly behind the destroyed homes. Both were treated for abrasions to their feet and then were released.

Jesse Asher, 29, of 1420 Second St., a guest at a gathering in the 800 block of Madison Avenue, was treated for a cut on the left arm.

Two autos suffering damage from the explosion and fire were towed from the scene. The vehicles were owned by Steve Hayden and Mrs. Betty Chrusciel.

Because so many windows had been broken, police sealed off the area to protect stores and business buildings and summoned the owners.

Among those responding was Venice Mayor John E. Lee, president of the First National Bank in Madison. Situated two and a half blocks from the explosion, the bank sustained broken windows along its southern side, the impact of the blast apparently ricocheting off a building across Sixth Street.

Boarding-up activities throughout the neighborhood were in progress within an hour of the explosion.

The blaze had been extinguished by dawn, and residents of demolished homes returned to try to salvage any belongings not destroyed. However, the intense heat had left virtually nothing undamaged.

Firemen found a small, charred body on the front porch of one of the homes and took it to the hospital. Madison County Coroner Robert Thomas examined the body and found it to be that of a dog which apparently had been trapped by the flames.

William Eaton and Gary Robins, agents, represented the U. S. Treasury Department's Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Division at the scene. They took samples of debris for testing to determine whether explosives had been involved.

"This doesn't mean we suspect arson. Taking samples for tests is a routine procedure," Robins explained.

Andrew Gasparovic Jr. of Granite City and Patrick H. Dillon Jr. of Belleville, deputy state fire marshals, also were cautious about specifying a cause of the explosion. Gasparovic conceded that "probabilities are good that it was natural gas."

Mrs. Chrusciel recalled that her home "rocked with the explosion, and the bedroom ceiling collapsed on me. I saw a big hole in the bedroom wall.

"The house burst into flames as we started to get out."

She and her husband, John, and their seven sons — Steve Hayden, 17, Larry Hayden, 15, Danny Hayden, 13, John Hayden, 11, David Hayden, nine, Walter Chrusciel, three, and Carl Chrusciel, two—ran outside wearing their night clothing and "anything we could reach on the way out," she commented.

George Dunlap, 817 Madison, said, "I woke up with the door and windows and everything on my chest. I had to dig out."

He assisted his aunt, Mrs. Sarah Roberts, from the burning home. With police assistance, he returned to bring his invalid mother, Mrs. Ida Lazenby, out in a wheelchair.

"I didn't know if we were going to make it across the street due to the heat," he related.

Dunlap is a brother-in-law of Mrs. Rose Davis, whose children are Danny Downs, 13, Robin Downs, 11, Tim Downs, nine, Darren Downs, eight, Juanita Downs, five, Shana Davis, three, and Tracy Davis, two.

Mr. and Mrs. Arlie Hartline and their three children were home at 809 Madison when the blast threw them out of bed.

A son, Fred Hartline, 10, found his sister, Dawn, six, and helped her out of the blazing home while another sister, Sherry, nine, followed.

The Hartlines presently are residing with his mother, Mrs. Ella Suddeth, 2915 Myrtle Ave. Friends said the family needs bedding, clothing, furniture and other items.

Fred Hinson, 20, of 817 Madison, said he and his uncle and niece were playing cards in the dining room of the home. "We were blown from the dining room into the bedroom and the whole room fell on us," he reported.

Jeffrey Graville's Four-Way Food Shop, 819 Madison, was gutted by flames after the explosion had broken all of the windows in the store.

The blast cracked the ceiling and walls and broke five windows at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Odissea Michailidis, 825 Madison. Mrs. Michailidis recalled, "I thought it was an earthquake. The house was going back and forth."

She said the family rushed to the front door to see what was happening and the whole area appeared to be ablaze.

"A piece of burning tar paper blew in when I opened the door and I threw it back out," she said.

At the Markuly Photo Studio, 917 Madison, the explosion broke the front plate glass window and burning shingles were blown onto the building. A son of Alex Markuly, owner of the studio, had to stand on the roof with a hose and keep the material wet to avoid sparks setting the building ablaze.

Bill Fox, 18, asleep in a front bedroom of his home at 814 Madison Ave., directly across the street from the explosion, said, "I was asleep when the blast blew my bedroom windown frame completely out and on top of me. I ran into the front room, where I found all the windows blownout and the front door and storm door blown off.

"The sky was afire and the heat was intense. I ran to the phone and telephoned the police first and then our Explorer scout leader, thinking our post might be needed.

"After making sure my mother and grandmother were safe, I went outside and began to help evacuate the people in the area."

Several members of Explorer Post 10-4, a law enforcement specialty post sponsored by the Madison Lions and Police, went to the scene to aid police, firemen and residents. They also spent several hours Tuesday helping clean up debris.

Jerry Maeras, 811 Iowa St., awakened by the explosion, found that the roof of the house at 813 Madison had been blown onto gasoline pumps at 801 Madison. Burning debris was removed from thep ump area.

Graville, operator of the confectionery at 819 Madison, said he and his wife had been watching television. "The windows suddenly blew out from a big explosion and the building shook for a long time."

Mrs. Easton recalled hearing "two big booms. I saw flames, glass and boards flying at me and I was trhwon into the next room."

And Donald Valencia, 1027 Madison Ave., captured a parakeet which flew from one of the burning hourses. He said the owner may contact him after 4 p.m. by calling 876-2450.

Public Hearing to Determine Status of Harold Davis as School Board Member

By MARION BARTOSIAK
Press-Record Staff Writer

The Granite City Board of Education will hold a public hearing to determine the qualifications of Harold Davis to continue to serve as a rural member of the board.

His seat on the board was challenged by a rural resident of the School District, claiming that Davis had moved from Chouteau Township to Illinois Avenue in Granite City.

At its meeting Monday night, the board considered legal opinions obtained from the state attorney general and from the state office of public instruction.

School attorney William W. Schooley was asked to set procedures for the hearing and to inform Davis of the procedures. A date for the hearing remains to be set.

In a 1965 case, the attorney general was asked:

"If a member who, at the time of the election, was a resident of an unincorporated area moves from an unincorporated area to an incorporated area prior to the expiration of his term, does his change of residence ipso facto create a vacancy on the board."

Ipso Facto Vacancy

The response was: "A member who moved from an unincorporated area to an incorporated area prior to the expiration of his term, his change of residence ipso facto creates a vacancy on the board."

Schooley also informed the board that "whether a vacancy occurs depends upon whether the board member's move is temporary or permanent, according to further opinions of the attorney general, and that it is the responsibility of the board to determine the qualifications of the member.

Davis, who was absent from the meeting because of his employment claimed in a letter to the board that he has not vacated the seat, that his move to Illinois Avenue is temporary and that he now is erecting a new home at 2230 Shirlwin Drive in an unincorporated area.

Robert Crider remarked that Davis has lived out of the unincorporated district for six months, and "we have a board of six sitting members."

School Auditorium

The board authorized the architectural firm of Gabriel & Dulgeroff to proceed on working drawings for renovation of the Granite City High School auditorium still out of use because of fire damage. The board hopes to call for bids at the June 5 meeting, with work to begin by July 23.

Henry Gabriel presented preliminary drawings for the auditorium which would hold 685 "good" seats. The balcony would remain, but areas under the balcony which formerly contained seats, two areas will be constructed for use as classrooms, offices or other purposes.

Following a report on damage to Mitchell School caused by the April 19 storm, the board authorized the administration to enter into a contract with the lowest bidder for repairs to the gym floor, which was a complete loss. Bids are to be returned Monday.

Damage to the school roof has been repaired, and ceilings of two classrooms, which were in danger of falling, were replaced, it was reported.

Other Board Business

In further business the board:

Approved trips for eight EMH teachers to attend a summer workshop Aug. 7-11 in Chicago at a cost to the district of $800, of which half will be to purchase materials. The teachers will provide $50 each to meet other costs.

Approved facility use requests of Lake PTA for a spring carnival from 5 to 9 p.m. May 12, Grigsby faculty and students for a fun fair from 4 to 9 p.m., May 18 with proceeds to help purchase a videotape machine, YMCA for the McKinley playground from 9:30 a.m. to noon Saturday to host a bicycle rodeo, and eight classrooms at Webster, Washington, McKinley and Logan Schools for the summer head start program.

The high school band was authorized to participate in the park district's anual baseball parade on May 13. The Future Homemakers of America was authorized to take its annual trip to a resort at Ironton, Mo., on May 12-14.

Approved a request to place posters announcing the Shriners Circus in Granite City in various schools.

Authorized purchase of a new van for use primarily for high school golf teams, cheerleaders, Lettermen's Club, wrestling team and school chauffeurs to replace a 1965 model. About $4,000 is available for the purpose in the 1971-72 athletic budget.

The following purchases were approved on the basis of low or best bid to specifications:

New GC Council Committees Appointed

A realignment of Granite City Council committees in which Alderman Thomas Boker of the Seventh Ward was replaced as chairman of the Finance Committee was approved by a majority of council members Monday night.

Approval of the new committee appointments came after Boker announced that he will resign his appointment to the Special Negotiating Committee because "if I am not on the one committee I don't belong on the other."

A motion by Alderman Roy Poulos, chairman of the Ordinance Committee, that the list of new committees be accepted, twice was declared out of order by Mayor Donald Partney who pointed out that it is his right to name the chairmen of the committees.

When Poulos eventually rephrased his motion, calling for approval of the committees subject to appointment of the chairmen by the mayor, Partney accepted the motion and the committee list was approved.

Sixteen council committees consist of three members each. Under a circuit court ruling of nearly two years ago, the committee members are named by the council and the chairman of each committee are appointed by the mayor. The mayor must select the chairman from among the three members to each committee.

The committee list is prepared by a group of aldermen whose identity never is disclosed. A list of the committees appears on the council tables at the first council meeting after the beginning of the fiscal year on May 1.

Disrupts Procedure

This means that changes in the finance and negotiating committees come at a time when those two committees are involved in considering new working agreements with union officials representing city employes, and preparation of the new city budget.

The new committees, with chairmen yet to be named by the mayor, are:

Finance — Steve Basarich, Paul Schuler and Emerald Dawes; Ordinance — Roy Poulos, Walter Nonn and Basarich; Street and Alley—Nonn, Claude Green and Clyde Boyd; Police—Everett Morlen, Green and Gerald Parmley; Fire and Water—Boyd, Dawes and R. E. Robertson; Lights—Basarich, Boyd and Schuler.

Negotiating — Thomas Boker, Frank Greenwald and Sam Whitmer; Intergovernmental — Boker, Whitmer and Greenwald; Planning and Zoning — Greenwald, Dawes and William Dallas; Air Pollution — Greenwald, Boker and Whitmer; Pollution Plant—Nonn, Robertson and Morlen.

Special Sewer—Boyd, Parmley and Dallas; Traffic — Dallas, Morlen and Schuler; City Hall — Whitmer, Schuler and Poulos; Sanitary — Dallas, Robertson and Green; City Building —Boker, Poulos and Parmley.

Ranft Honored by State Soft Drink Association

CARL A. RANFT

Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Ranft were the honored guests at the annual convention of the Illinois Soft Drink Association, held at the Regency Hyatt House, in Chicago, Monday and Tuesday.

Their daughters, Lorain and Mrs. Jennifer Moore, joined them Monday evening at the banquet, at which time Ranft was honored and given the "executive award." Daughter Janet Wood of St. Petersburg, Fla., was unable to attend with her month-old son, Walter.

E. E. Beisel, chairman of the board of the Pepsi-Cola General Bottlers, presented the award to Ranft.

Many telegrams of congratulations were received by the Granite Cityans—one of them from the board of the National Soft Drink Association, which cited Ranft's contribution to the soft drink industry.

Beisel related that the theme of the 51st annual meeting was "Participate."

He continued, "I have been asked to present an award to one of our members who has truly participated — for over 20 years — Carl A. Ranft of Granite City.

"I've asked Carl to join me here for a formal recognition of his service to our industry in Illinois.

Firm Founded in 1903

"I'm told that Carl's father, Joseph Ranft, started in the soft drink business in Granite City in 1903 — that he was the founder and president of the then parent King Kola Company — and one of the first franchised bottlers of the brand Whistle Vess.

"Later on, the company became known as the J. C. Ranft Bottling Co. and prospered under the Ranft family's leadership.

"Carl, all of us know that you have continued to serve our industry with your many special talents.

"The stature of our association is, in no small part, a tribute to your dedication and perseverence. You have been a director for 20 years — filled all the chairs leading to your presidency in 1958 to 1960 — and were then treasurer for seven years.

You have been the chairman of our Dental Research Study Committee since it was formed in 1959. You and I know of the many accomplishments of your committee, and the full meaning of your final report on that study."

The executive award presented to Ranft cites meritorious service as chairman of the ISDA's Dental Research Study Committee, 1962 to 1972.

James L. Stanfield, National Geographic photographer, will be honored Friday by the mass communications department of Southern Illinois University - Southwestern.

Stanfield will receive the Capt. Donald T. Wright Award, given annually at SIU-SW in recognition of distinguished service to inland and intercoastal water transportation through professional journalism. The presentation will be made by President John S. Rendleman at a dinner in the University Center.

Nominations for this award were solicited from men in the maritime industry and judged by members of the SIU-SW mass communications faculty. According to committee chairman Edmund Hasse, Stanfield was selected for his photographic illustrations of Bern Keating's book, "The Mighty Mississippi", published last year by the National Geographic Society's Special Publications Division.

The award is given in commemoration of the leadership of Captain Wright in the field of maritime transportation. Captain Wright was editor and publisher of Waterways Journal from 1922 to 1965.

Hodding Carter, editor, author and publisher, will be honored posthumously at the dinner for his book, "Man and the River: the Mississippi", published last year. Carter lived beside or was associated with the Mississippi River for most of his life. His book relates two significant themes: man's persistent attempts to control the power of the river and the meandering nature of man and the river in the river's valley. The Pulitzer-prize-winning author died April 4.

Park Sets Pre-School Registration Tuesday

Registration for the Granite City Park District's summer pre-school program will take place Tuesday from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Wilson Park office. The seven-week series of classes will start June 5.

Parents of children who have reached their fourth birthday by June 1 may register the child at the office or call 877-3059. Only children who have not attended kindergarten are eligible to take part in the pre-school program.

Four classes will be organized, each containing 35 pupils. Sessions will be held twice a week at Wilson Park rink pavilion, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 1 to 3 p.m.

The only charge for participation is a daily 10-cent fee for milk and cookies. However, all children must be covered by the park district's insurance plan, obtainable at a cost of $1 per year. Those who have paid the insurance charge for 1972-73 are not required to pay the fee again, Harold Brown, park superintendent, said.

Mrs. Rosemary Lindner will coordinate the pre-school summer program, Brown said.

Judicial Problems Are Reviewed on 'Law Day'

Attorney Phillip A. Theis discussed current procedures and problems in the U. S. Judicial system at a meeting Monday evening of the Granite City Kiwanis Club at Charlie's Restaurant.

Bill Weible, Kikanis president, was in charge of the dinner session, attended by 17 members.

The local attorney reviewed efforts by the American Bar Association to halt the practice of a few lawyers who cause problems and delays in court proceedings using methods similar to those seen in the "Chicago 7" trial.

Theis said such legal antics subsequently delayed the case and extended the trial for a period of several months. He also denounced present bail procedures which, he said, in some instances resulted in persons suspected of a capital crime to be quickly released without proper safe guards.

The attorney, who is a member of the local men's service club, addressed the Kiwanians in observance of National Law Day.

Baseball Cougars to Face Tough Ohio State

The Southern Illinois University-Southwestern baseball team, now 19-9-1 for the season, faces a weekend of the toughest kind of competition: a four-game series with Big Ten power Ohio State University.

The Buckeyes of Coach Marty Karow, picked in pre-season predictions as one of the favorites to take the conference title, got off to a rather shaky start. They are now 6-13 overall, but with a 4-6 conference record they could still win the championship.

The four-game series with the Buckeyes will be played in a pair of twinbills, two on Friday and two on Saturday at SIU-SW's new baseball field, at the corners of Bluff and Poag Roads. Both doubleheaders start at 1 p.m. The four games will go a long way in determining post-season tournament possibilities for the Cougars.

Coach Roy Lee's Cougars split a doubleheader last Sunday afternoon at Cougar Field against the Arkansas State University Indians. The Cougars dropped a real heartbreaker, 6-4, in the opener, and bounced back in the nightcap 7-4 on relief pitching by Sam Stewart.

Stewart in Relief

Stewart came on in relief of Dale Wilderspin and put on an Arkansas State rally by forcing the first man he faced to pop up and by fanning the final two batters.

In the opener, Don Rains looked like he'd notch his fifth victory of the season for the Cougars as SIU-SW entered the eighth frame leading 3-2. Rains, however, gave up a double to the first batter and, after fanning the next hitter, lost his control and walked the Indians' leadoff man, Jim Callewaert. Jim Berry then reached first on a fielders' choice as Rains threw out the runner at third. Pete Davis, next up for Arkansas, drilled a triple to center to score the tying and go-ahead runs. And that was the game.

Hitting star for the Cougars in the two-game Arkansas State series was Ron Rohlfing of Valmeyer. He was 3-for-4 in the opener and 1-for-4 in the second game. Rohlfing was credited with driving in three runs in the series, and in the process, raised his batting average to .326. Rohlfing's towering triple in the first game, in fact, was the longest hit ball so far in the new Cougar park. It was against the wall in deep center, a distance of 416 feet from home plate.

Still out of the regular line-up in SIU-SW's leading hitter, Mike Allaria, although Coach Lee has called on him twice for pinch-hitting chores. He's hitting .388, but has also drawn a record-breaking 22 walks. It's thought that his injured finger will be okay for the Ohio State series this weekend.

Still in second place in the Cougars' hitting parade is sophomore Tom Twellman at .351. Moving up fast is second baseman Jo Jo Crenshaw of Winfield, Mo. Still in a slump is big Dan Cole, who has slipped to .289. Cole has lost the runs-batted-in lead to Rohlfing, who now has 21 to Dan's 19.

Even though the Cougars are in a slight hitting slump, they maintain a healthy lead over their opponents for the season, .289 to .223.

Last week's schedule, starting with a pair of victories Sunday, April 23, at the Quincy College tourney, two wins over Greenville College on Wednesday, a split with Indiana State U. Thursday, and Sunday's split with Arkansas State, is enough to tear apart any team's pitching staff. The Cougars are no exception.

"Don Rains is a real pro, but he's had two bad starts recently, Ron Middleton and Steve Malone, my other two frontliners, have not been overpowering. Ken Desmaretz, on whom we counted strongly, hasn't had it. Sam Stewart, who I wanted to use exclusively in relief, has been the only one to really take command when he's on the mound," Coach Lee said.

Lee also said "Dale Wilderspin has looked good in spots, he's 3-2, and Mike Dickey could bail us out." In the earned run column, the Cougars' two top pitchers are Stewart with a 1.61 and Dickey with 1.66. Only Malone, at 3-0, hasn't suffered a loss.

Jayvee Soccer Set for GCHS

Granite City High School will field a junior varsity soccer team during the 1972-73 school year.

The Board of Education approved the appointment of an assistant soccer coach on the request of Joe Fedora, athletic director, during a meeting Monday night.

Plans for a Jayvee team for 1971 were dropped due to a stand taken by the Illinois High School Association in changing soccer from a winter to a fall activity effective last season. Fedora said it was almost impossible to arrange a jayvee schedule last fall.

Registration Set

Girls wishing to participate in the Madison girls softball program this season are to register at 10 a.m. Saturday at the Third Street baseball diamond in Madison. An insurance fee of $3 is to be paid at registration time.

Expect Report On Cage Melee

A report was expected this week from the Illinois High School Association on rioting and property damage inflicted in the final game of the Edwardsville sectional basketball tournament, Lawrence McCauley, GCHS principal, told the Granite City Board of Education Monday night.

He noted difficulties experienced in controlling fans at the last two sectional tourneys, the first during a game between Granite City and East St. Louis and this year between East St. Louis Lincoln and Collinsville.

Lincoln is slated to become a probationary member of the Southwestern Conference in the fall, and the Collinsville School Board has ruled out athletic competition with Lincoln next year.

After the IHSA report is received, the matter will be considered at a conference executive board meeting later this month, McCauley said.

Warriors Win 2 Ball Games, Aim for District Crown

Granite City High School's baseball Warriors racked up two more victories as they downed Cahokia 7-6 Tuesday and toppled Wood River 4-1 Wednesday.

John Stanton was on the mound Wednesday for the Warriors holding Wood River to four hits. Stanton fanned 11 Oilers and walked one.

The Warriors earned their first two runs in the second inning. Jerry Duncan started the bats booming with a triple after two men were out. Jeff Worthen then belted a double, and Howard Etherton singled.

GCHS crossed the plate twice again in the fifth as James Forrester walked, advanced to second on an infield out and came home on a single by Parks scored on a hit by Steve Burdge.

Parks became the Warriors' most consistent batman, raising his average from the low 200s to over 400, with RBIs in every game.

In action Tuesday the Warriors were leading 5-3 going into the sixth inning when Cahokia opened with three big runs to take a 6-5 lead. The Warriors came back in the seventh for the narrow 7-6 margin.

Cahokia's Gary Kahariban belted a four-bagger, accounting for the three runs in the third.

TheWarriors used three pitchers. Mark Boone started and was relieved by Jesse Brake and Vic Reznack.

Parks was two-for-four with two RBI's and Worthen was two-for-four with one RBI.

"This was one of the poorest played games we have had this season," Coach Gale Garbe commented. "In addition to walking 10 men, base running was terrible, defense was terrible, everything was just plain poor."

The Warriors play host Friday to Staunton to end their regular season.

GCHS will host the district baseball tournament new next week beginning Monday when the Warriors take on Edwardsville at 4 p.m.

Tri-City Auto Racing To Resume Tomorrow

Super-sprint and late model stock car racing will resume tomorrow evening at the Tri-City Speedway, the first evening race of the season.

Rain forced cancellation of last Friday's race which was to have been the first event under the lights at the local track.

Chuck Amati of Greenfield, Tenn., and Wib Spalding of Pontoon Beach will try to retain their point leads against a field of top name drivers. Expected are about 35 super-sprinters and 30 late model stocks.

Amati has won both sprint feature races this season at the track, April 9 and 16, and Spalding has collected the top honor in both late model stock car features.

The field challenging Amati will include Bill Utz of Sedalia, Mo., Bubby Jones of Danville, Jimmy Moughon of Springfield, Spalding, who again will drive in both divisions, and others.

Spalding will face rugged competition with Bill Myers of Rosewood Heights, Bob Buchanan and C. C. Corbin of East Alton and Louis Jansen of Bethalto.

Time trials in both classes will begin at 7:30 p.m. with heat races at 8:30 p.m. The program will include a 20-lap super-sprint car feature race and a 25-lap late model stock car feature.

Chandler Performance Unbeatable at Meet

The 880-yard relay team of Joe Young, Chris Stanley, John Newsome and Chandler crossed the line in 1:35.5 for the Trojans' only other first place.

Other events and Trojan finishes were: High hurdles—Stanley, third, :17.4; Willie Shearry, fourth, :20.3. 100-yard dash — Young, second, :10.9. 880-yard run—Robert Jones, third, 2:15. 440-yard dash—Gus Young, second, :57; Royce Boyd, fourth, :57.5.

220-yard dash — Joe Young, third, :24.8. Shot put — Boyd, second, 44'6½". Discus—Boyd, second, 120'2½". High jump—Newsome, third, 5'4".

Madison High School's star trackman Ed Chandler made a brilliant showing Monday in a triangular meet with host O'Fallon and Roxana, winning the three individual events in which he was entered and anchoring the first place 880-yard relay team.

Despite Chandler's attempt, O'Fallon won the meet with 72 points, and the Trojans and Roxana tied with 42 points each.

The Madison star broke the tapes in the 100-yard dash in :10.5 and the 220-yard dash in :23.8. In the field he long jumped 21 feet for first place.

Trojans Lose Two, End Season at 1-13

Madison High Schools baseball Trojans dropped their last two games of the season this week, losing Tuesday to Columbia 5-1 and Wednesday to Litchfield 7-5. They finished with a 1-13 record.

The scoring in Wednesday's game for the Trojans went 1-1-0-1-0-2-0, and Litchfield 1-3-2-0-0-1.

John Henke was charged with the loss after he relieved Carl Fonville in the second inning. Trojan first baseman Rick Harper had a two-for-three day at the plate.

Errors again took their toll on the Trojans as they committed nine.

In Tuesday's action against Columbia the Trojans were held to two hits and committed four errors while the winners scored with only three hits. Henke again was the losing hurler.

The Trojans play Tuesday on the GCHS diamond in the district tournament against Collinsville.

Trojans Top 15 Teams At O'Fallon Track Meet

Team scores were: Madison 71, Mascoutah 64, Assumption 58, Wood River 44, Triad 31, O'Fallon 22½, Lebanon 20, Bethalto 19, Roxana 16, Highland 12, Red Bud 8½, Waterloo 7, Weslin 7, Dupo 4, Jerseyville 0.

Trojan Ed Chandler sparked the victory by winning two individual events and anchoring two first-place relay teams.

Chandler broke the meet record of :10.2 in the 100-yard dash, crossing the finish line in :10.1. The previous record was set in 1967. Trojan Joe Young was fifth in that event.

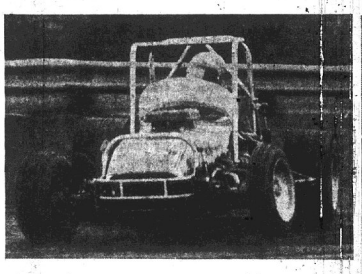

Chandler also leaped 21 feet in the long jump for first, with teammate Larry Evans claiming second with 19'4".

Evans, Kelvin Boyd and John Newsome gave Madison good starts in the 440 and 880-yard relays, with Chandler taking the baton and crossing the finish line first in both events. The 440 was completed in :45.1 and the 880 in 1:34.5. Both barely missed meet records.

The freshmen and sophomores also fared well yesterday, earning top spots in the 440 and 880-yard relays in their class.

The freshman and sophomore relay squad of Young, Lamont Garrett, Carl Campbell and Chris Stanley ran the 440 in :47.3 and the 880 in 1:37.1.

Young-Dye Nuptials At Suburban Baptist

Miss Deborah Rae Dye, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie E. Dye, 1746 State St., and Specialist Five Donald James Young, U. S. Army, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Young of Oaklawn, Ill., were united in marriage April 8 at Suburban Baptist Church.

The Rev. Wendell Garrison performed the noon ceremony.

For her wedding, the bride chose a full length gown of peau de soie designed with a round neckline and short sleeves, edged with lace motifs. The motifs were repeated on the detachable cathedral length train and small fabric bows accented the shoulders.

A forward headpiece of peau de soie and lace petals secured a shoulder length veil of bridal illusion, and she carried a white Bible topped with white spring flowers.

Maid of honor was Miss Kim M. Dye, a sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids were Miss Donna Upton and Mrs. Ellen Young, a sister-in-law of the groom.

They were attired in peacock blue gowns, trimmed at the neckline and on the sleeves with a white and blue braid. They wore white bows in their hair and carried a single white rose.

Mary Kathryn and John Patrick Cordle served as the flower girl and ringbearer. She was gowned in a frock similar to the attendants' dresses and carried a basket of red rose petals.

The groom chose his brother, Ronald Young, as best man. Arnold Young and Danny Young, also brothers of the groom, were groomsmen and seating the guests was Specialist Four Lonnie E. Dye, a brother of the bride, and Wayne Huddleston.

A reception was held at the American Legion Hall, in Granite City, immediately following the ceremony. The couple is now living in Fayetteville, N.C., where the groom is stationed at Ft. Bragg.

The former Miss Dye attended SIU-SW and is a graduate of Granite City High School.

All proceeds from the banquet will be donated to the Special Olympics Committee and will enable children from this area to participate in the 1972 state and national "Special Olympic Games."

Theme of the dinner is "Exceptional Children: Community Responsibility for Teaching Moral and Religious Values."

Major objective of the week-long observance is to make the public aware of both the presence of these children in the community and the needs of the children and their families, a chapter official noted.

The Rev. Juenger, a native of Collinsville, was the 1971 recipient of the annual ICEC Award for Distinguished Service to Exceptional Children. Specific recognition was given for his inspiration, organization and leadership to the "Triple T Program" (Teacher Training to Trainables).

The Triple T Program is designed to promote understanding of the trainable child; special techniques of teaching the trainable; psychology of growth; "nursing helps; how to prepare lesson plans and design materials; music and crafts; basic religious concepts; the responsibility of the church to the trainable children and his parents; and how to start classes for the mentally handicapped.

Sierra Favors Airport

The Sierra Club, a leading environmental group, has concluded that the proposed Waterloo, Ill., regional airport merits approval as having least impact on the environment of any proposed locations, it was announced Tuesday. It foresees a continuing increase in air traffic and finds "ample justification for a well-planned airport (at Waterloo) to serve St. Louis and air carrier needs for future generations."

Mayor to Meet State Officials On Dobrey Plan

Mayor Donald Partney is scheduled to meet in Springfield tomorrow with John Guillou, director of the Illinois Division of Waterways, and other state officials to outline a proposed new route for construction of a drainage line to relieve the Dobrey Slough area of flooding.

Mayor Partney said he also will ask the state for additional funds to undertake the new proposal. About $90,000 will be needed in addition to the original $170,000 fund shared by the state, the levee district and Granite City, he said.

The proposed new route would parallel the right-of-way of the Alton & Southern railroad from Pontoon Road to Horseshoe Lake and would eliminate potential lengthy court proceedings to secure easements for the original drainage plan offered by the state.

Meanwhile a petition bearing 700 signatures, signed by residents in the Dobrey Slough area of Nameoki Township and northeast Granite City has been mailed to Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie by Helen Hawkins, leader of a committee of Dobrey Slough area residents, in efforts to obtain drainage improvements.

The petition was drawn several months ago as a plea to Attorney General William J. Scott to initiate proceedings that would expedite the project. Mrs. Hawkins said the petition was sent to the governor with a letter pointing out that the new Dobrey Slough proposal by Mayor Partney is the fifth plan to be prepared since the state offered its help in solving the flooding problem.

Jr. College Deadline Expected to Be 1974

Legislation being amended in the General Assembly this week is likely to set a 1974 deadline for areas not yet in a junior college district to form or join a district, Granite City Rotarians were told Tuesday by Wilbur R. L. Trimpe, Madison County educational service region superintendent.

Trimpe noted that, at present, 48 residing in the Granite City school district attend out of town junior colleges, and part of the costs are reimbursed to the colleges by Granite City public schools.

He said junior college facilities in the Quad-City area could be created by organizing a district or possibly by joining an existing district. Homer Huber was program chairman and President A. H. Froemling presided.

New Procedures On Draft Cards, Questionnaires

The Selective Service System has announced new registration procedures for the draft. Under the new provisions, a registrant must register with a draft board or a draft registrar within the period 30 days before to 30 days after his 18th birthday.

He must bring some official type of identification with him when he registers, such as his birth certificate, Social Security account number card, driver's license, school or college activity card, or a credit card.

The new registration procedures are designed to make registration more registrant-oriented and draft board operations more streamlined.

Registration will consist of filling out a registration card. Additionally, a new registration questionnaire also must be filled out, although the registrant can take the questionnaire with him or have it mailed to him. He must return it within 10 days.

The new registration questionnaire requires the names and addresses of three persons outside the registrant's immediate family who will always know his address. The names, relationships, and addresses of all the registrant's family over age 16 also must be listed.

In addition, the form includes questions inquiring whether the registrant believes he qualifies for a hardship deferment, for status as a conscientious objector, for a surviving son exemption, or for other selective service deferments and exemptions.

Finally, every registrant must list a place of permanent residence, as well as a current mailing address.

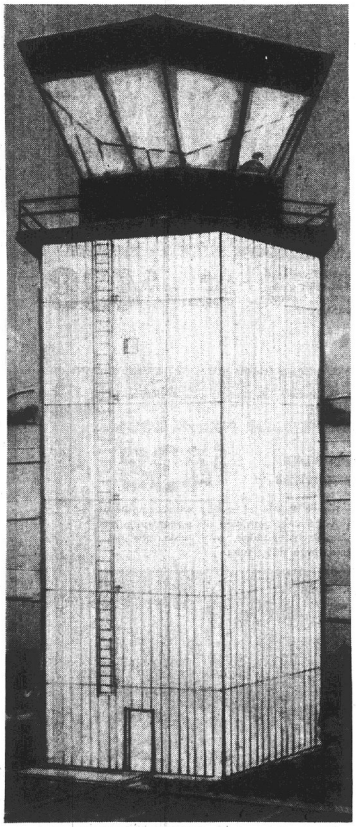

The draft board serving his permanent residence will be the registrant's permanent draft board, regardless of where he registers.

When he registers at his own draft board, and when time permits, after he has completed the registration card the registrant will be issued his registration certificate—along with his notice of classification stating that he has been placed administratively into a holding classification, Class 1-H.

Practically all new registrants will remain in Class 1-H until after their lottery drawing, which will be held early in the calendar year in which they reach age 19.

Those who receive low lottery numbers will then be considered for classification out of 1-H.

Young men become draft eligible, provided they do not receive a deferment or exemption, during the calendar year in which they reach age 20, it is explained by Mrs. Ada F. Daniels, executive secretary-supervisor for Local Boards 165, 166 and 167.

GC Town Board Ok's New Tax Levy of $323,900

A 1972-73 Granite City Township tax levy of $323,900 was approved by the city council convened as the town board Monday night.

The levy extends $113,900 in taxes for the town fund, $200,000 for the general assistance fund and $10,000 for municipal retirement.

Extensions in the town fund include $23,010 for compensation of town officers, $150 for elections, $79,140 for assessing purposes, $2,000 for town officers' expenses, $6,600 for services and expenses, $1,800 for contingencies and $1,200 for insurance.

General assistance levies included $150,000 for home relief, $15,100 for hospitalization, $500 for institutional care, $500 for transient cases, $1,500 for burials, $31,850 for administration and $1,200 for contingencies.

The $10,000 levy for municipal retirement included $6,500 for the town fund and $3,500 for the general assistance fund.

The town board also adopted resolutions reappointing William Schooley as township attorney at a salary of $250 per month and designating Ralph Curry & Associates of St. Louis as auditor of town funds.

Bills for the last half of April totaling $4,514 in the town fund and $7,223 in the general assistance fund were approved.

'Y' Miles for Mankind Walkers Are Announced

Chuck Hasse, project coordinator for the 15-mile walk set for Saturday, May 13th, known as "YMCA Miles For Mankind" has announced a list of officially "registered walkers."

They include Marvin VanMetre, Mike Reinhardt, Mickey Cline, Bill Terrell, Dawn Voss, Jill VanMetre, Linda VanMetre, David VanMetre, Susan Pittinger, Linda Hasse, Cindy Treadwell, Linda Stephens, Patti Iberg, Debra Cottrell, Irvin Slate Jr., Linda Atwood.

Cheryl Crown, Mike Allen, Karen Foy, Donna Robertson, Connie Ripper, Jean Mecava, Janet Schwendeman, Robert Rowland, Sandy Weissenborn, Ida Cassel, Susan Brake, Jennifer Lignoul, Vicki Valencia, Nancy Barton, Denise Huebner and Barb Little.

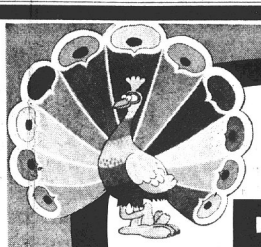

Others who intend to walk should send in their waiver form to get their name on the official list of walkers.

The basic idea of the walk is to raise funds for the local YMCA and for YMCA World Service. Walkers will solicit sponsors to pay them a minimum of 15c a mile to several dollars for each mile they walk. All money raised is then turned over to the "Y". Walkers will stop at the 15 checkpoints along the route to have their checkpoint cards verified.

Persons interested in joining the walk may pick up a packet of materials at the "Y" or can call the "Y" for more information.

CUB PACK SEVEN CIRCUS

"Circus world" was the theme of the monthly meeting of Cub Pack Seven of St. Joseph's Catholic Church. "Ringmaster" was Joe Geisler, committee chairman.

A grand march opened the evening, with all scouts in circus outfits.

Cubmaster Andy Timko presided as parents of new cubs read the parent pledge of cub scouting. New scouts and their families participating were Don Marquis and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Marquis; Robert Milkovich and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Milkovich; Mike Konzen and Mrs. Pat Konzen; Danny Moutria and Mr. and Mrs. John Moutria; and Jerry Dreevs and Mrs. Helen Dreevs.

Awards were presented. Bobcat pins and recruiter stripes went to Danny Moutria and Robert Milkovich; silver arrow, Steven Payne; denner bar, Joseph DeRuntz; assistant denner bar, Mathew Lukasiewicz and George Buhman; silver arrow, John Mungovan and two silver arrows and a recruiter stripe, Robert Mungovan.

Webeloes receiving showman and traveler badges were Mike Konzen, Don Marquis, Richard Bowman, John DeRuntz and Chris Lukasiewicz.

Opening act was "Be a Clown," led by Mrs. Kathy Wallace, Den One leader, her assistant, Kathy Stanfill, and Mrs. Bert Buhmann, Webelo leader.

Den 1 performed "Circus Hi-Jinks" with John Buhmann, George Buhmann, Mark Wallace, John Wagner, Perry Perdue, David Price, Danny Moutria and Steven Payne participating. The narrator, Mrs. Wallace, was assisted by Kathy Stanfill. Also in the act were Melanie Wallace as a tightrope walker and Bill Wallace as a barker.

Den One also formed a "circus band under the direction of Den Chief Bryant Snee.

Den Two's "Center-Ring Antics" were given by Tim Oesler, Joseph DeRuntz, Mathew Lukasiewicz, Robert Mungovan, Robert Milkovich, John Mungovan, Tim Burns and Mike Bennett.

A den mother, Mrs. Myrna Geisler, was featured as a "snake charmer." Den Chief Darren Geisler joined the boys in a musical production, "Talk to the Animals."

Mrs. Buhmann presented Webelo scouts in a puppet show and magic act. They were Richard Buecker, Richard Bowman, John DeRuntz, Chris Lukasiewicz, Don Marquis and Mike Konzen.

Craft projects displayed and demonstrated were string clowns, dog caddies and arrowhead neckerchief slides. Each den furnished games for a carnival midway, which also offered refreshments. All proceeds will be donated to the Ray Gean Fund.

Final plans were announced for a bake sale May 13, at Schermer's Market in Madison. All mothers are to bake at least two items, and den mothers will be in charge of the fund event.

A report was given on the pack's part in a pet parade.

Sex Education Program On Channel 9 Monday

Televised sex education will take on a new frankness when a KETC-TV-produced one-hour special, "Sex Is Not a Four-Letter Word," premieres at 9:30 p.m. Monday, May 8, on Channel 9.

The program uses a lay panel discussion, intercut with film clips of expert opinion, to explore six areas of human sexuality, many of which receive their first television teratment in this special.

Each subject is first introduced in the panel, composed of two college students, a divorcee, a priest, a policeman and father of six, and moderator Robert E. Simpson, executive director of the St. Louis Social Health Association. These six — of varied backgrounds and widely divergent views — discuss their opinions on the issues, bringing their personal experiences to bear.

The discussion segments are juxtaposed with opinion of the issues at hand. Experts featured in the program include attorneys, doctors, psychiatrists, counselors, members of the Liberation Front and two clinical and research associates of the Masters and Johnson Reproductive Biology Research Foundation.

Four mock commercials are spliced into the program to expose, in a humorous vein, "Madison Avenue" exploitation of sex to sell products.

Channel 9 has prepared a sex education "self-test" to accompany the program, enabling viewers to test their educated opinions before and/or after the program, and providing a printed stimulus for discussion of the issues brought out.

Copies of the "self-test" are available free in any quantity to those requesting them from Channel 9. In addition, the educational station has prepared a viewer's guide for the special.

The guide, which includes an edited transcript of the program, questions for discussion and suggestions for related reading, is available for $3 to Channel 9 members.

Nonmembers may obtain a copy by becoming Channel 9 members through a tax-deductible contribtuion of $15 (personal) or $25 (family) to the station. Membership contributions and requests for the guide or self-test should be mailed to Channel 9, 6996 Millbrook, St. Louis, Mo. 63130.

Police and Teens Raise $1,128 In Cancer Drive

Volunteer workers from the Madison Police Department, auxiliary police, members of Explorer Post 10-4 and eight teenage girls collected $1,128.97 for the Cancer Fund during the weekend.

Madison Chief of Police Frank Dutko estimated that when all monies are turned in for the cancer fund, contributions should exceed $1,800.

Dutko, drive chairman for Madison, indicated additional money will come from the "Buck Cancer With a Buck" boards located at business places in the city.

Police officers and their wives working on the door-to-door solicitation, in addition to Dutko, were Capt. and Mrs. Edward Zabotka: Officers and Mesdames Donald Bridick, Edward Goclan and William Papa.

Other members of the police department working were Lt. Richard Kreishok, Sgt. William Fanning and Officers Charles Bridick, William Steiner, Marvin Owca, Tom Voloski, Paul Bargiel and Tony Turski.

Auxiliary police helping were Earl Mosley, Guy Burns, George Wallace, and Mike Economy.

Teenage girls, commonly referred to as the "10-4 auxiliary," who worked in the drive were Mary Macko, Cindy Conghlan, Cindy Dutko, Peggy Stagner, Kitty Dutko, Barbara Bevill, Stephanie Clark and Joan Hollenbeck.

Members of Explorer Post 10-4 who assisted were Randy Affolter, Mike Bilbrey, Dale Bogavich, Dennis Brown, Brad Crown, Steve Fischer, Bill Fox, Rich Hooks, Tom Brooks, Jerry Howell, Dave Jeffries, Ron Jones, Kevin Kearns, Nick Popilchak, Terry Sasyk, Mike Siebert, Jack Small, Randy Steele, Keith Wagner, Bill Weidner, Mike Willmore.

Auto, Taxi Collide

An auto driven by Dolores M. McAlister, 3136 Willow Ave., and a taxicab driven by Ronnie L. Jamerson, 3008 E. 23rd St., were in an accident at 4 p.m. Monday at 2300 Washington Avenue.

Damages Door

Mrs. Mary Peters, 705 Iowa St., Madison, told police a man came to her home at 11 p.m. Monday and kicked in a panel of her aluminum screen door.

Full Use of C-5 Planes Expands Airlift Scope To Massive Equipment

Hq. Military Airlift Command, Scott Air Force Base, Ill. — A power plant generator to Taiwan — an air traffic control system to West Berlin — a Titan IIIC missile booster to Cape Kennedy — these are the types of loads that the Air Force's C-5 Galaxy is carrying daily.

The aircraft was designed for huge and heavy loads and that is the job it is performing. "If the cargo has priority and is outsized, the C-5 is airlifting it," a Military Airlift Command official explains.

A whole new dimension in airlift is unfolding with the full introduction of the Galaxy into the MAC operational aircraft inventory.

Material too large to be even considered for airlift in the past now is being flown routinely in the C-5.

"Although still in its testing phase and subject to some weight restrictions, the aircraft is achieving an enviable record," Major Albert Pagani of the Special Airlift Division, said.

Items such as a mammoth MAC directorate of operations, boosters, outside loads such as Titan missile booster — which previously had to be disassembled and transported by barge, ship, railcar or flatbed truck — can now be airlifted fully assembled to destinations thousands of miles away in a matter of hours, instead of days and weeks.

The Military Airlift Command with headquarters at Scott Air Force Base now has 48 of the giant Galaxy's in operation at three bases, Dover Air Force Base in Delaware, Charleston Air Force Base in South Carolina and Travis Air Force Base in California.

Captain John Poates, who works with Major Pagani and is highly involved in planning and coordinating the airlift of cargo in the C-5, said, "The aircraft constantly is in demand. More and more pieces of equipment are being classified as air transportable as we experience the growing of the Galaxy fleet."

Besides the Titan missile a 28-ton sonar window, which fits in the bow of a large naval vessel, and huge ship's propellers have been carried in the cavernous hold of the C-5.

Since the first C-5 took off on a channel mission in July 1970, the aircraft has airlifted more than 110 million pounds to overseas destinations.

"Before we had the C-5, the airlift of helicopters both to and from Southeast Asia was a costly and time-consuming task. We either had to disassemble them and airlift them in pieces by the prop driven C-133, which has since been retired from the active inventory, or we had to transport the helicopters by ship. The sea route took weeks.

"With the C-5, we can airlift these helicopters fully assembled and in a matter of hours," Major Pagani noted.

C-5s currently run almost a weekly shuttle service between the continental United States and Southeast Asia, airlifting new or repaired helicopters to the war zone and returning battle-damaged helicopters to depots in the U. S. for repair.

"We've also carried some interesting and unusual cargoes on the C-5," Captain Poates continued.

"In February, we airlifted two antique World War II vintage aircraft from Torrejon Air Base, Spain, to the Air Force Museum at Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio. The two aircraft, a Heinkel HE-111 and a Junkers JU-52, were gifts from the Spanish government."

"The amount of cargo that this aircraft can carry never ceases to amaze me. Back in January, one mission airlifted seven T-28 aircraft overseas," Major Pagani continued.

"On the return flight, it airlifted three CH-47 helicopters back to the States — and they are pretty big helicopters.

"We are today carrying priority items essential to our national defense which previously had to be transported by surface transportation.

With the C-5, we can airlift practically any object up to 120 feet long, 13 feet high, 18 feet wide and weighing up to 150,000 pounds.

"There is an awful lot of cargo which fits those specifications," Pagan concluded.

Tire Destroyed

A railroad flare was ignited and placed next to the left rear tire of the car of James Beatty, Collinsville, on the parking lot of Madison Junior High School during school hours Monday. The tire was destroyed.

JUDICIAL, ADMINISTRATIVE PROBLEMS of the offices of clerks of Circuit Courts in Illinois were discussed at a meeting of clerks called by Willard V. Portell, clerk of the Circuit Court in Madison County and president of the Illinois Association of Court Clerks. In the group are, left to right, Walter Gribben, executive secretary of the Supreme Court committee on criminal justice systems; William Madden, assistant administrator of Illinois Courts; Portell; Edward M. Whiting, St. Clair County circuit clerk; Stephanie Sulthin, Lake County circuit clerk; and John W. Cockrell, assistant circuit clerk of DuPage County.

State Court Clerks to Update Office Methods

To establish new lines of communication and training, Willard V. Portell, president of the Illinois Association of Court Clerks and Madison County circuit clerk, has established a committee to discuss judicial and administrative problems in counties of more than 150,000.

The first meeting was called by commitee chairman Jan Carlson of Kane County April 13 at St. Charles.

Eight of the ten counties in the category were represented at the kick-off meeting. The group first heard remarks from William Madden, assistant administrator of Illinois courts, who discussed the need for accurate statistical reporting by the clerks, and the uses of the data gathered from the court system in each county.

Walter Gribben, executive secretary of a newly appointed Supreme Court Committee on Criminal Justice Systems, spoke on the purpose and scope of that committee, suggesting that each clerk feel free to call for information or assistance when required.

Consultant Irwin T. David, representing Touche Ross & Co. of Chicago, spoke on the role of the "Circuit Court Clerk in Today's Criminal Justice System." He indicated a need for training, communication between judicial and non-judicial agencies, and a new professionalism among clerks.

The group discussed common problems, pending legislation and other committee business. A sub-committee is to be appointed to formulate a "job description" for the clerks. While the statute provides for duties of clerks, many additional responsibilities have been given them over the years that are of an administrative nature. An attempt will be made to re-define the official duties of the office.

It was pointed out that the 10 counties on this committee represent nearly half the population in the state, outside of Chicago, and over half the litigation filed in the state for the same area.

County Hopes for Profit in Seeking Title to Coal Mine

Madison County has taken steps to become owner of a mine during the current fiscal year. How profitable the venture will be is not certain, in the opinion of various County Board members.

Controversy over Lumaghi coal mine property east of Collinsville reached a climax at the final meeting of the 49-member board, when it was decided to acquire the 300-acre Collinsville Township tract.

The property is listed as owned by Heatern Glen, a law firm, which obtained it from Tennessee coal mining interests desiring only the equipment on the tract.

Back taxes and penalties add up to more than $100,000, Assistant State's Attorney Marshall Smith has estimated.

Gilbert Killinger, Collinsville Township supervisor, who proposed the resolution for acquisition, said the county could obtain the property for $15,000. Smith added that it would cost more to the county to take the case to the court.

The county would have all coal mining rights in a fee simple title, Smith said.

Board members speculated that several million dollars' worth of coal remains in the mine and is of good quality.

No suggestions were made for use of the porperty, but it was the intent of the board to prevent its use as a landfill, especially by Missouri garbage and trash haulers.

It was said that the county could sell the land for $40,000 or $50,000 to St. Clair County coal mining firms, but Chouteau Supervisor Walter Sparks remarked that "millions of dollars worth of coal is there.

"We could set up a contract to let a firm take the coal out of there at a profit to the county and the property will still belong to the county (for any future unforeseen use)," Sparks added.

Wayne Bridgewater of Wood River Township remarked that "it will behoove the county to get it now. We can make a ton of money on this."

An ordinance was placed on first reading to establish a centralized purchasing agency for county agencies to effect economies.

A bid of $1,148 was approved to purchase an ice making machine for the County Nursing Home from Fixture Mart, Inc., of St. Louis. Another bid was quoted at $1,249, and an offer for a used model was listed as $539.

Death tries to break but all in vain;

You seem to look and say,
Don't cry loved ones, I'm only sleeping,

Deadline Nears for State Scholarships

Illinois youth wishing to enroll in a public or private college in the state during the 1972-73 academic year have until June 1 to apply for financial assistance from the Illinois State Scholarship Commission (ISSC) through its Monetary Award Program.

The commission, an agency of state government, provides awards of up to $1,200 per year toward the tuition and fee expenses of citizens who enroll at any of the 175 approved colleges, universities and hospital schools of nursing within the state.

The awards are based primarily upon need and are renewable through four years of undergraduate study. In the coming year ISSC hopes to make awards in excess of $50 million to Illinois college-bound youths who have financial need.

Application forms for the Monetary Award Program can be obtained from local high school or college counselors, or by writing directly to the Illinois State Scholarship Commission, P.O. Box 607, Deerfield, Ill. 60015.

The commission encourages graduating high school seniors and others who will need financial aid for college next year to apply also to the director of financial aid at each college campus to which admission is sought. In most cases in which a student has high need, he is eligible for special programs of assistance both from the commission and from the college.

Sewer Meeting Request Referred to Committee

A request that Granite City and the Madison County Sewer Committee, sponsors of the four-townships sewer program, begin negotiation of a contract under which the city would provide sewage treatment for the townships was referred by the city council Monday night to its Pollution Plant Committee, despite the urging by several aldermen that an immediate meeting be arranged.

The action was taken on a motion by Alderman R. E. Robertson although the council in its April 24 session took the initiative to arrange a city-township meeting by instructing the city's public engineer, Edward Juneau of the Sheppard, Morgan & Schwaab engineering firm, to set up a conference between the two agencies.

Sheppard, Morgan & Schwaab also is handling the planning and engineering work for the four-township sewer program which provides for construction of collector sanitary sewers in Venice, Nameoki and Chouteau Townships and interceptor sewers that would deliver the sewage to the Granite City treatment plant.

Negotiation of a contract between the city and the township group was requested in a letter by Nelson Hagnauer of Granite City, chairman of the Madison County Board and a member of the four-township sewer committee that is developing the township program.

Seeks Contract Talks

In a letter to the city, Hagnauer asked "that the city of Granite City and the sewer committee of Madison County enter into negotiations for a contract providing for the treatment of sewage by the city of Granite City to be deposited (by the townships) in the treatment plant."

Hagnauer noted that "The sewer committee of Madison County is proceeding pursuant to plans approved by the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council and the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission."

The four-township sewer plan, including construction of the interceptor lines, was approved by the Gateway council last week, a factor that is expected to cancel out original plans by the city to build the interceptor lines.

When Robertson moved for referral of the request to committee, Alderman Walter Nonn told the council

"This business of referring the request to a committee don't mean a thing. I think we should set a meeting date right now. This is just more dilly-dallying around causing more and more delay."

Nonn Favors Meeting

Nonn, who is chairman of the Pollution Plant Committee, formerly was one of the most outspoken critics of the township program. It was Nonn, however, who made the principal arguments in the council's April 24 meeting in favor of "getting together" with the township officials.

Mayor Donald Partney said he would be unable to attend a meeting if one was arranged this week because he would be out of the city most of the week.

Robertson explained his motion by saying he belived it was best for the Pollution Plant Commite to meet first with the township group "and then report back to the council as to the procedure we should follow."

"I think this is a matter involving the entire city council and not just a committee matter," Nonn replied.

Alderman Paul Schuler said he thought an immediate meeting should be arranged.

"Could you attend a meeting tomorrow", he asked the mayor.

"I don't think you could get all these people together on such short notice," Mayor Partney answered.

Robertson's motion for referral to the committee carried on a voice vote.

Venice Council Awards Sidewalk Repair Contract

The Venice City Council Tuesday night approved a low bid of $1,513 by Tom Skerle of Granite City for repair to city sidewalks.

The work will be done between Third and Fourth streets; and Granville and Hampden streets. Other bids submitted were $1,799 by C. D. Peters and $1,924 by G. H. Sternberg.

City Attorney Harry Harriman informed the council that legal proceedings have been started against the owners of properties at 1117 Calhoun St.; 509 Salveter; 1100 Douglas St. and 640 and 616 Broadway.

The properties at these locations are considered by the building inspector and the city council as being in a dangerous condition. Hartman said a hearing is scheduled May 22.

The McKinley Bridge report for the month of April said a total of 213,697 vehicles crossed the bridge for a daily average of 7,123 vehicles.

Fourth Ward Alderman Lewis Ratliff reported that clean up week was successful. He complimented the street department for its efforts in addition to the Boy and Girl Scouts of the area.

Mayor John E. Lee commented that the Monday explosion and fire in Madison pointed out how well Madison, Venice and Granite City can work together in an emergency. Mayor Lee said he was proud of the Venice street, fire and police departments who assisted.

"We may never become one city, but I hope the cities continue to work and assist each other so well. The unfortunate situation was very well handled by all concerned," Lee remarked.

New officers chosen by Barracks 34 are: Raymond Scott, commander; Clem Rogers, senior vice commander; John Winklemeier, junior vice-commander; Jay Elliott, quartermaster; Abner Branding, adjutant; Louis Branding, chaplain; and William Redmond, sergeant-at-arms.

Auxiliary officers are: Clara Knipping, president; Della Rabb, senior vice-president; Fern Eggley, junior vice-president; Irene Hendricks, treasurer; Mabel Clark, chaplain; Vera Schillinger, conductress; Clara Elliott, guard; and Kathryn Fellers, secretary.

Mary Scoggins, Gussie Munsterman and Ida Cassel, trustees; Grace Branding, Anna Schwartz, Mary Breidenbach and Clara Conaway, color bearers; Clara Redmond, flag bearer; Ida Cox, banner bearer; Clara Harbig, historian; and Joan Stanton, patriotic instructor.

Installation of all new officers will take place at the June 6 meeting. It was announced a meeting of the 4th District will be held May 21 in Collinsville.

Auxiliary Plans Memorial Events

Progress made in the Parade of Flags program and participation in other Memorial Day services were the main topics discussed at a meeting Tuesday night of the Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary.

Mrs. Lillian Hefferly, Parade of Flags chairman, announced the annual ceremony honoring deceased veterans will begin at the DAV hall on 19th Street at 9:30 a.m. May 29 and conclude with posting the flags at Memorial Park, Niedringhaus and Madison avenues. Local Girl and Boy Scouts will take part in the ceremonies, together with area veterans's organizations.

Mrs. Irene Hoelter, commander, was in charge of the meeting. The opening prayer was offered by Mrs. Bert Kickler, chaplain.

The auxiliary also planned to take part in Memorial Day services of Daughters of Union Veterans May 30 at the City Hall in Granite City and in St. Louis, at Soldiers Memorial, on May 28. Wreaths and flags will be placed at all three locations.

Contributions were made to the Easter Seal Crippled Children's Day camp and to the Educational Scholarship Foundation. Two new members initiated were Mrs. Thelma Hibbard and Mrs. Vonnie Wilkins.

A social meeting will be held May 16.

Honor Circle to Serve at Auction

Honor Circle of the Women's Society of Christian Service of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church will serve refreshments during a May 20 auction sale. The event will benefit the church building program.

Plans for the fund-raising project were discussed at a circle meeting Wednesday at the church. Mrs. Clara Wadlow, president, was in charge and announced the annual Christmas bazaar is planned on Nov. 17. All church circles will contribute items for sale.

Miss Elva Miller attended the meeting and donated a gift of money in memory of her mother, Mrs. R. L. Miller, a former member, now deceased.

Mrs. Charlotte Weir gave the devotional lesson taken from an article entitled "Because I Need You." Members reported making 23 sick calls during April.

Mrs. Mildred Cundiff was hostess and served a dessert luncheon following the morning quilting session. Also present were Mesdames Winifred Reimers, Ida Cox, Eva Evans, Augusta Pender and Pearl Campbell.

Shower Honors Kathy Richards

Miss Kathy Richards was honoree at a bridal shower given this week by Mrs. Carol Clark in the home of her mother, Mrs. Lawrence McGuire of Rural Route One. Rainbow colors in yellow, turquoise, pink and lilac were used in the party decorations.

Several games were played in keeping with the bridal theme and those winning prizes were Misses Pam James, Deborah Rich, Kathy Kutosky, Debbie Bell, Mrs. Ray Rose, Mrs. Margie Richards and Mrs. Mary Michaels.

Also attending were Mrs. Lucille Clark, Mrs. Alay Richards and Mrs. Betty Bell.

Miss Richards will be married to Dale McGuire on June 2 at St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church.

Debbie Trotts Is Honoree

Miss Debbie Trotts, a June bride-elect, was honored at a bridal shower this week at the American Legion Hall, 24th Street and Madison Avenue, given by Mesdames Diane Trotts, Chris Green, Chris Harper and Patty Clinton.

More than 140 guests were served refreshments at tables decorated in apricot and white. Centerpieces were "cakes" created with towels in various colors that were used as prizes in the game period.

Miss Trotts will be married June 10 to Wayne Motl at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Madison. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Trotts, 1022 Greenwood St.

Wine, Beer for Age 18 Is Rejected by Senate

The Illinois Senate refused 28-23 Tuesday to revive a bill allowing 18-year-olds to buy wine and malt liquors.

On the same day, the Illinois House Judiciary Committee voted 10-5 to kill a bill outlawing handguns. The Senate this week voted 38-0 to set up procedures for an advisory election on repeal of the present firearm owner registration law.

"ACRE OF ART" may have been an understatement as approximately 13,000 pieces of art work done by pupils from kindergarten through the 12th grade level were displayed Monday in the Memorial Gymnasium at Granite City High School. At left center is Sandy Stein, a junior and Karen Graham, a sophomore, both art students at GCHS. The show was sponsored by the Area PTA Council and the Art Education Department of GCHS.

Igor Stravinsky, Father Battled Over His Career

Editor's Note: Igor Stravinsky, 1882-1971, a Russian-born composer who studied with Rimski-Korsakov and wrote the music for three great ballets, "Petrouchka," "Sacre du Printemps" and "The Fire Bird." This is another in a series on what famous people were like in their teens.

By BERT ANDERSON
Copley News Service

Igor Stravinsky had a mind of his own and that mind was usually on music.

In one way, his parents encouraged this. They took him to operas and concerts and paid a teacher to give music lessons. The Stravinsky home was always filled with musicians. But, in another way, Igor's parents did all they could to keep him from doing his thing. They wanted him to be a lawyer.

Igor's teen years were stormy. His father was a terrible-tempered man. The two argued and sulked and made no real effort to communicate with each other. His poor report cards guaranteed a glum father and a gloomy home. The Stravinskys had a generation gap that was never really bridged.

At 16, Igor was playing Mozart, Schubert, Haydn and Beethoven. His piano teacher was a crochety woman full of eccentricities. She forbade her teen-aged pupil to use the pedal when he played.

She also forbade him to play Chopin or Wagner. Igor grew more and more frustrated at the lack of understanding in the adults around him.

Fortunately, he had real genius. Neither his overbearing music teacher nor his parents could keep this young Russian boy from becoming one of the world's greatest composers.

For a while, Igor's parents had their way. They sent their talented, creative teen-aged son to the University of Petersburg to learn law.

This parental tyranny made Igor rebellious and unhappy. He resolved to get back to music as soon as possible.

He studied harmony but hated it. Then, at the age of 18, he began to learn counterpoint. He thought it was the greatest.

Igor Stravinsky looked back on his teen years as miserable and frustrating. It was lucky for music lovers that he finally was allowed to do his own thing. He studied with Rimski-Korsakov and the two became great friends.

Diaghilev, head of the Russian Ballet, commissioned Stravinsky to compose several ballets for him. Among them were "The Fire Bird," "Sacre du Printemps," and "Petrouchka." Stravinsky is also noted for many other exciting compositions such as "Oedipus Rex" and "Les Noces."

ART REPRODUCTION of "A Young Girl Reading," originally done by 17th century artist Jean Honore Fragonaid, is displayed by Jo Ann Lotzy, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lotzy, 2504 Benton Ave., who did the reproduction as part of an art class assignment. A few of the thousands of other paintings done by Granite City school children and displayed Monday at the GCHS gymnasium also are pictured.

McKendree to Present 'Carousel' in Weekend

A backdrop 30 feet long and 25 feet high, a real merry-go-round, a stage big enough to make the Muny Opera stage look normal size, an orchestra of professional musicians, a professional cast, dance troupe, even live trees on the set—these are part of what 'Carousel" audiences can expect at McKendree College Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The Rodgers and Hammerstein production is being staged in grand style thanks to the volunteer work of many professionals in many fields. The musicians will include many who play in the Military Airlift Command band, internationally known, under the direction of Sgt. Philip Paeltz. Sgt. Paeltz plays with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra on occasion.

Directed by Mrs. Shirley Schaefer, the play has a cast of 80 including many professional entertainers. The production supervisor is John E. Peters, general stage manager of the St. Louis Municipal Opera.

Tickets are $2 for adults and $1 for students and will be available at the door of the Bearcat Gym at all performances. The musical will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday and at 2:00 p.m. Sunday.

Madison Bands Present Season's Finale Today

The Madison Senior High Band will present its third and final concert of the school year at 8 o'clock tonight in the Madison Junior High School gymnasium.

As part of the last presentation, the senior musicians will be joined by the Madison Junior High Band students, according to William F. Ledbetter, director of instrumental music for the Madison School District.

Each band will perform separate numbers and then combine forces to play the closing selection, the director said. Ledbetter will conduct the entire program.

Admission is by season ticket or single admissions will be available at the door.

The Senior Band selections will include: "Illinois March," by Goldman; "George Washington Bridge," by William Schuman; March Et Cortege from "The Queen of Sheba," by Charles Gounod; Highlights from "Mission impossible"; and "Emmett's Lullaby," a solo for tuba with band, featuring Robert Mangoff, a senior band member.

The Junior High Band students will present: "Commanding Officer March," by Frangkiser; "Variation Overture," by Clifton Williams; "The Meistersinger Processional March," by Richard Wagner; "Rainy Days and Mondays"; and the "Mother Goose Jumps."

Soap Poured in Tank

Ottie Edwards, 3806 Kirkpatrick Homes, reported at 1:25 p.m. Monday that vandals poured soap in the gasoline tank of his 1962 auto parked at his home during the night. He said there has been a rash of vandalism to his auto in the past.

Jill-Myrtle Accident

A&P

DO YOU HAVE A DOUBT ABOUT THE QUALITY OF OUR "PRIVATE" BRANDS?

We know that some people do.
They still think that if the price is low, the quality must be low.

And they can't understand how A&P can sell an A&P Brand for less than the top quality national brand . . . without sacrificing quality.

They overlook three eye-openers:

1. Aside from being the world's largest food retailer, A&P is also one of the largest food processors.
2. Even with products we don't process ourselves, we buy directly from the producer and eliminate many middlemen costs.
3. Every item which bears the A&P name is as good as . . . or better than . . . comparable national brands.

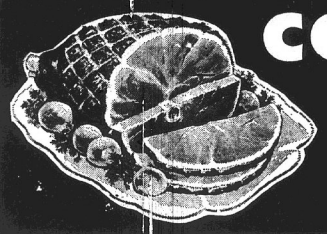

That last point is rigid policy from which we never deviate and is easy for you to prove without risking a nickel.

Just try a shopping-cart full of A&P Brands, now, while the big sale is on.

If you're not satisfied, we'll give you DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK.

No Justification for Continuing the Halt In Establishing Basic SIU-SW Facilities

The virtual shutdown in construction at the Southwestern campus of Southern Illinois University has never been a justified cessation.

The relatively new school's "catching up" needs require continued establishment of basic facilities and should not become confused with or entangled in the state's overall program of reducing the rate of expansion of higher education spending.

Because this is true, there is widespread hope that Governor Richard B. Ogilvie will release construction funds for two SIU-SW classroom buildings. The Illinois Board of Higher Education again approved the projects on Tuesday and recommended that the governor permit them to proceed.

Acting on 19 capital projects totaling $85 million statewide, the Higher Education Board included in the list a $7,742,250 Business Division classroom structure and a $6,523,950 Education Division instructional building.

Trying not to be "greedy" despite obvious facility inadequacies at the local campus, the SIU board has deferred an addition to the communications building and a world resources center, the latter a project of SIU-SW's famed planning authority, Buckminster Fuller.

SIU does not wish to delay further the Education Division and Business Division projects, nor does the Illinois General Assembly, which has authorized Illinois Building Authority financing. If a "green light" is obtained from Springfield, construction bidding could take place in August.

The governor may see fit to approve all 19 of the proposals which passed the Higher Education Board hurdle; the board acted negatively on seven others, including the communications addition and resources center.

But whether or not he decides to release funds for all 19, it is imperative that Mr. Ogilvie expedite the two SIU-SW classroom buildings due to the "catch up" challenge still confronting the local university.

1972 Festival Concert Season Attainable If Public Helps Provide Required Funds

It is not yet a 100% certainty that there will be a fourth annual Mississippi River Festival summer concert series. But the outdoor performing arts tent has been raised at SIU-SW, and much detailed planning has been carried out for a MRF season beginning July 8 and ending Aug. 19. Many outstanding musicians and entertainers are available, as is the large and highly regarded St. Louis Symphony Orchestra.

The reason a final "go ahead" has not been issued is that projected income and expenses remain out of balance, and by a considerable sum of money.

In this case, "wishing will make it so," if residents of Madison County, St. Louis and the surrounding region wish hard enough — and back up their desire for a 1972 River Festival with not only ticket purchases but monetary contributions.

We would guess that all of the planning that has been carried out will culminate in another summer of concerts and other attractions. But there is no way for this to become a reality unless potential financial support by the public materializes, and in a big way.

Final decisions are likely to be made this month, hinging directly on the decisions of individuals and families and organizations. We look forward to specific announcements of the task—and how it can be met — soon.

Repeated Rulings of Unconstitutionality Delay Implementation of New State Laws

Comment by Press-Record Springfield bureau—In these past two years, Illinois courts have been firing away at legislation passed by the General Assembly when the measures are presented to the judicial branch of government on constitutionality tests.

The latest problem on constitutionality for the General Assembly has come in the declaration that portions of the governmental ethics or economic disclosure law should be thrown out. Cook County Circuit Court Judge Daniel A. Covelli ruled that the ethics law, passed in January by the General Assembly, was unconstitutional because it violated the rights of the public official's spouse and minor children.

So now the General Assembly is expected to become embroiled in another governmental ethics law. Some lawmakers have privately said this time they will pass a law to show the courts the General Assembly isn't "kidding." But there also are those who privately say the best bet for the future of ethics laws right now is to appeal Covelli's ruling to a higher court.

Late last year, the courts threw out Illinois' no-fault insurance law. The general Assembly passed it in June. The matter was brought before Judge Covelli and he held it unconstitutional. It was appealed to the Illinois Supreme Court and again the high court also said it was unconstitutional. So the no-fault automobile insurance problem is still in the General Assembly.

The matter of state aid to private and parochial schools has ended up in the courts. The General Assembly passed a bill, and then Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie used his amendatory veto powers to get around some adverse court rulings in other states. Illinois' Supreme Court ruled Ogilvie exceeded his powers in the amendatory veto process.

Then there is the matter of personal property taxes. In 1969, the legislature passed a bill giving a $1,500 exemption. But in 1970 the courts held that the law violated a ban in the then existing constitution. So the lawmakers quickly passed another law early last year; the new Illinois constitution allows homestead exemptions.

Also in 1969, the General Assembly voted to place on the ballot a proposition which sought to abolish personal property taxes on individuals. The courts held this to be unconstitutional because it discriminated against businesses.

Undoubtedly in the future, before taking action on major pieces of legislation, the General Assembly will have one eye cast towards the courts.

DRAGON LADY

Reds Invade U.S. Politics With an Unusual Letter

Copley News Service

The extraordinary letter sent by the Viet Cong foreign minister to members of the U. S. Congress has left very little doubt that the Communists have picked 1972 for a direct invasion of the American political process—just as surely as they have picked this year for a do-or-die military sweep into South Vietnam.

Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh deserves precisely the sharp rebuke which her flagrant breach of international propriety has received from the White House.

It is members of Congress themselves, however, who should rise in a body to express their indignation at this patent attempt by a foreign official to use them as tools for attaining Communist objectives in Southeast Asia.

Mme. Binh attacks President Nixon's determination to stand by South Vietnam in the face of the invasion as "an adventurous plan fraught with unpredictable consequences."

This might better be applied to her own venture into our politics.

The consequences could well be a final awakening by leaders of both our political parties to the fact that the people most eager to keep the "Vietnam issue" alive in this American election are the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong themselves.

The Binh letter is the most arrogant example so far of how the Communists are trying to influence political thinking in the United States to smooth their way for conquest in Asia.

They have stepped up or scaled down the level of fighting at propitious moments to correspond with our national mood as they read it through anti-war demonstrations and the rise and fall of debate on Vietnam.

They used the offer of negotiations to gain a bombing halt in 1968, and since then have played cat-and-mouse with our delegation drawn to Paris by the lure of peace and the hint of release of our prisoners of war.

Now, when they needed only to stand quietly by and await the total withdrawal of our troops, they elected to launch a full-scale invasion of South Vietnam in the hope of humiliating the Americans on the eve of our national elections.

It may be a sign of desperation that has prompted Mme. Binh to insinuate herself directly into our Congress.

The North Vietnamese have poured virtually everything they have into South Vietnam.

And the South Vietnamese have made them pay in blood for every inch of land that they have gained.

$561 Million Capital Improvement Plan Calls for State Bond Issue

(Springfield Scene)

The Administration's program to fund $561 million in capital improvements through general obligation bonds would be administered by a seven-member bipartisan Capital Development Board in a package of bills introduced last week (H. 4614-17).

In addition to running the capital improvement program, the newly conceived board would take over the functions of the 15-year-old School Building Commission, which has achieved a reputation in the state for effectively controlling building costs.

Other functions of the new board:

1. To conduct continuous studies into building costs.

2. To conduct research on improvements in choice and use of materials and in construction methods for reducing construction and operating costs.

3. To review and recommend periodic revisions in established building and construction codes.

4. To supervise construction and inspect materials to be used in such programs.

Legislative leaders have set deadlines for consideration of bills, resulting in a flood of measures coming before committees this week.

Friday, May 5, was set by the House as the final day for standing committees to report House bills except for those re-referred to another committee.

The Senate also set Friday for action by Senate Committees on Senate-sponsored bils.

Final date for passage of House bills by the House will be May 12.

House standing committees must report Senate bills by June 2.

Both houses have made exceptions for bills on appropriations, constitutional implementation, reapportionment and revenue, administration bills, and selected other bills.

Powers of the Fair Employment Practices Commission would be broadened to include the right to initiate complaints and the authority to conduct investigations and hold hearings through legislation introduced last week.

Presently, the FEPC can act only after a complaint has been received from an aggrieved party. Investigations and hearings must now be based also on a particular complaint.

Senate Bill 1493 would allow the commission to initiate investigations and issue complaints in its own name after receiving written information that a private employer or union is engaging in an unfair employment practice.

The bill lowers from 25 persons to 15 the number that must be employed to bring a firm under the jurisdiction of the FEPC.

Another measure (H. 4514) would allow any member of the commission the right to initiate a charge before the full commission on alleged unfair hiring practices of governmental units.

Under Senate Bill 1507, the FEPC can "take affirmative action to insure that no unfair employment practice is committed" by companies or contractors dealing with the state.

This bill also empowers the commission to conduct investigations and hold hearings without a specific complaint.

A bill proposing a total unemployment compensation benefit rate increase of 25% during 1972 was introduced last week in the House.

H. 4525, introduced by Rep. Jermoe J. Hill, Aurora Democrat, would propose a 10% across-the-board increase effective Sept. 10, 1972.

This increase would be on the heels of a 15% increase which went into effect on Feb. 6, 1972.

A bill creating an Industrial Pollution Control Financing Authority (H. 2555), would allow for non-income producing industrial pollution control facilities at revenue bond rates available to the state.

The facilities would be sold on the credit ratings of the companies with the state holding title to the facilities until the bonds are retired from company revenues.

Witnesses stressed the immediate need for such legislation to ease the burden on medium-sized companies in the purchase of expensive pollution control facilities.

Environmental impact statements would be required of all firms filing incorporation papers with the Illinois Secretary of State under two bills introduced in the House.

The bills would require the statements of corporations (H. 4532) and not-for-profit corporations (H. 4534).

The statements would also be required when a corporation was involved in a merger or consolidation.

The FORUM

(The following Law Day statement by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover was received prior to announcement of his sudden death this week. It is published as typifying his dedication to the concept that a structure of enforced laws is essential to the maintenance of freedom.)

GOVERNMENT OF LAWS —OR WHIMS OF LAWLESS

To the Editor:

Extremists of all stripes in our society ceaselessly attempt to discredit the rule of law as being biased and oppressive.

They have no conception of—or purposely choose to ignore—its role and history.

It is not surprising that these divisive elements concentrate their abuse on the law enforcement officer. Above all, he stands firmly in the path of mindless actions that would reduce our government of laws to mob rule or the whims of lawless men.

To permit such attempts to damage the reputation of our government by law is, of course, a necessary condition of democracy.

While it must tolerate the lawfully expressed views of extremists, its citizens cannot through their own ignorance be entrapped with sympathy for bankrupt doctrines that would lay waste the foundations of their nation.

In observing Law Day, USA, this May 1, we have an opportunity to view our laws in their proper perspective and appreciate the role they have played in developing our nation.

This day is also a time to renew our obligation of support to law enforcement officers, 126 of whom selflessly gave their lives last year in upholding the law.

Our greatest democratic heritage is the rule of law. It is the foundation for and the guardian of the rights, liberties and orderly progress we enjoy.

It is also the soil that has nurtured the "American dream" implicit in the Declaration of Independence pledge to provide ". . . life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness" for all our citizens.

The tests of time and challenge of our nation's history have more than proven the majesty of the law.

Were this not so, our country would not have endured strife to now stand before the nations of the world as a model of freedom and accomplishment.

This is not to say the law has always been right, but that it has been organized to ultimately seek justice.

Recognition of its power for good is not merely the experience of our nearly two centuries of democratic government.

The struggle to insure the rights of the individual and his social organizations by written decree has roots which reach far back into antiquity.

The authors of our Constitution were mindful of this legacy when they drafted that historic document.

Nor was the importance of a definitive rule of law lost to the general public of our infant nation.

Worn by the ravages of the Revolutionary War, our forefathers appealed for and got amendments to the Constitution which formed the Bill of Rights—specific guarantees of law that responded to the heart of their grievances.

Together, the Constitution and the Bill of Rights gave birth to our rule of law—and it is the flesh and blood of our nation.

The law is dynamic because it responds to change as it did for those who argued for and received the Bill of Rights.

And our nation's history has been a chronicle of change.

But the process of change in a democracy requires discipline and responsibilities that will not unleash unrestrained forces that would rip the fabric of our freedoms.

That fabric derives its strength through the warp and woof of laws that orderly guide the process of change by defining our individual and corporate duties.

Change in our society would otherwise simply result from those who could impose their will on others without regard for the validity of their arguments or the rights of those who do not share their views.

Law Day honors an indispensable commitment of a free society: that democracy be dynamic but not self-destructive.

If we do not value this commitment by both honoring and obeying the rule of law, the tyranny of extremists may inevitably result.

Boarding Clubs Here, Separation From Families, Recalled in Book

Insight into the life of Southeastern Europeans who resided in boarding rooms and worked in factories here during the early years of this century is provided by a book, "Our Foreign-Born Neighbors."

A rare copy of the volume, written by the Rev. Tzvetko S. Bagranoff, is owned by Mrs. Stephan Kroteff, 2608 Benton St.

The book was published on the occasion, on Nov. 30, 1932, of the 25th anniversary of "The Near East Mission of St. Louis," formerly known as The First Bulgarian Mission in America.

It outlines the history of the Mission and his activities as its minister.

He notes that the Eastern Orthodox Church embraces the countries of Russia, Rumania, Bulgaria, Serbia and Greece and the provinces of Macedonia and Montenegro.

Services were held in a rented room in Madison from 1907 to 1910, at which time a Madison mission building was opened.

Programs included tours to other Bulgarian colonies, a night school, a reading room, concerts and other entertainment, social service, relief during the 1907-08 financial depression, an employment service, legal aid, injury compensation assistance, language aid, home health counseling, contact with lost relatives, immigration aid and benevolent projects.

The operation of immigrant "boarding clubs" in the Quad-Cities is described by the Rev. Bagranoff as follows:

"Twenty-five years ago (1907), when the Mission was organized, we found in Granite City and Madison approximately 7,000 Slavic immigrants, of whom about 5,000 were Bulgarians and the rest represented about ten other foreign groups.

"All these Bulgarians emigrated from the province of Macedonia, then under Turkey, and from the kingdom of Bulgaria, both lying south of the Danube River, while the rest—smaller groups — came from other regions of the Balkan Peninsula.

"It is worthy of note that these Balkan states were the last of all European countires to send immigrants to America.

"Their real emigrating dates from 1904, when a great number fled from attempt to overthrow the Turkish yoke. This number increased in 1905, and in 1906 some 40,000 emigrated from Bulgaria.

"Two reasons account for their coming to America—economic and political.

"All of them came to earn a better living, while the Macedonian Bulgarians came chiefly because of the cruel government of the 'unspeakable Turk,' as Mr. Gladstone used to characterize him.

"It is also interesting to know that this colony which we found in the adjoining towns of Granite City and Madison, Ill., was the very first Bulgarian colony to congregate in the United States.

"In studying these immigrants, let me first of all describe very briefly their social conditions.

"Ninety-nine and a half per cent of these were men.

"The married ones had come to this country without their wives and children, while for unmarried had left behind fiancees and sweethearts.

"As a matter of fact, there were only four Bulgarian families in the entire colony that were lucky enough to be together.

"Can you picture in your minds the pathetic, the heart-breaking situation those men were compelled to live in? And this separation from their dear ones was to be endured not only for one, but for many long years.

"You may ask, 'Why didn't they bring their families?' The answer is: Because they were too poor to pay for their transportation.

"Most of these men borrowed money or mortgaged their homes in the old country, in order to come to America.

"Besides, they were afraid to bring their families until their success had been ascertained. This circumstance, to be sure, accounts for their way of living and the tenement houses occupied.

"They originated and adapted the bachelor boarding system.

"Ten, 15, 20 or more, for instance, would rent a house or an apartment in a big building, choose among themselves a man to keep the accounts, order the provisions, collect the money and pay the bills and the rent.

"He is subject to dismissal or re-election by the vote of the majority of the club each month. Nothing is paid for this service to the man, who works in the factory like the rest do.

"This Boarding Club hire a woman, if they can find one, or a man, who cooks and washes for them. At the end of the month, each man pays his share of the total expenses.

"Much to be regretted, their rooms, for economic reasons, were in most cases crowded and badly ventilated.

"So crowded were they, that in many instances, we found two men using the same bed—one sleeping at night while the other worked, and vice versa.

"With every tenement house there was connected a grocery and a saloon, run by the same man.

"Since the tenants were buying on a weekly or monthly credit, they were obliged to buy groceries and patronize the saloon of the 'same' landlord.

"These Slavs are recognized by factory superintendents and railroad managers as the most industrious workers. They are the main constructive factor that America has had for the last 25 years.

"It is these Bulgarians and Macedonians who, by the thousands, left the factories every spring and went to the Northwestern states, where great railroads were being pushed through isolated territories toward the Pacific.

"It is these people that have largely contributed to the greatness and prosperity of America."

Pioneer Mayor of Madison Dies

MAY 4, 1947

A brief illness ended in the death of Warren Champion, 84, pioneer Madison resident, who served as Madison village president for two terms in the 1890s. He served as manager of three lumber yards for the E. C. Robinson Lumber Co. and was one of the organizers of the First National Bank, becoming its first cashier. The second Madison mayor, he later served as a trustee for a number of years. He also was instrumental in creating the East Side Levee and Sanitary District and in achieving paving of Madison Avenue, as well as carrying out other civic improvements. Work Incentive Plan Shares Training Cost

The Illinois Work Incentive Program (WIN) in Granite City is interested in helping business firms in the Madison County area with their training cost when they accept WIN enrollees. Employers who hire workers from the WIN program in positions where training is required will have to pay only 50% of the training cost (up to $4 per hour).

The WIN Program is willing to reimburse the employer for that portion of extra training costs incurred when he hires a WIN enrollee. The local WIN manager must certify that a need for training exists prior to the enrollee beginning the on-the-job training.

The employer is required to provide OJT training for WIN enrollees in accordance with the approved contract. He also must provide trainee evaluation reports as required as well as submit invoices for reimbursement at specified intervals.

A second benefit employers may derive from hiring WIN enrollees on OJT or regular employment is a 20% tax incentive. This tax credit was created to give private employers an incentive to hire persons participating in the WIN Program. Employers who plan to hire or who have hired WIN enrollees after Jan. 1, 1972, may qualify for this incentive if the employees hired from the WIN Program have not displaced any previous employes. This 20% tax incentive is that amount of cash wages or salaries paid to employes during their first 12 months of employment.

Taxpayers who are engaged in a trade or business and who hire persons placed in OJT or employment under the WIN Program are entitled to receive a credit against their income tax of 20%.

Bids Sought for Air Pollution Monitors

The Granite City Air Pollution Control Department is seeking bids for four air monitoring and sampling devices for the city's air pollution monitoring network.

The devices are expected to cost about $13,000 and will expand the network to include measurements of sulphur dioxide, carbon monoxide, hydrogen sulphide, nitrogen dioxide and sulphur dioxide.

Included are a $6,000 sulphur-dioxide sampler, a $5,000 carbon monoxide sampler, a $900 sampler to give daily averages of airborn concentrations of hydrogen sulphide, nitrogen dioxide and sulphur dioxide, and a $1,000 analytical balance for laboratory analysis of the samples. Bids may be filed with City Clerk Robert Stevens until noon May 15.

Pre-Tax Fee Could Ease Impact Of New Residents -- Gov. Ogilvie

(The governor discusses badly-needed tax relief measures in the following spiecal column.)

By Governor Richard B. Ogilvie

Property taxpayers in fast-growing areas of the state clearly bear an unfair burden for support of local governments, particularly school districts.

That's why I am supporting urgently-needed measures sponsored by Sen. Harris Fawell of Naperville.

The injustice in these areas results from the present tax process, which allows children to attend local schools as long as a year before taxes are collected on the newly-built homes in which they live.

The taxes are based on assessed values in January. Yet, what was a vacant lot in January can have a completed home and children enrolled in schools in September.

But in the meantime, the only tax revenue to the local taxing bodies is based on the value of vacant land.

Under the Fawell bill, municipalities and counties would be empowered to charge a fee which represents as accurately as possible the taxes that would be paid if the home were assessed as soon as it is completed, rather than months later.

Two companion bills also will offer substantial relief.

They would allow city or county officials to require subdivision developers to contribute sufficient land for schools, or a cash payment in lieu of land.

The provision for school land would become an integral part of the process of creating new subdivisions if adopted by local governing bodies.

Minimum standards for the amount of school land required would be set by the state superintendent of public instruction, based on estimates of the number of school children that could reasonably be expected in any given development area.

Let me stress that both of the proposed reforms are permissive — local authorities may or may not choose to help present taxpayers by adopting the new requirements.

Another tax relief bill which should be enacted without delay is the $1,500 homestead exemption for elderly citizens starting with 1972 taxes, which are payable in 1973.

Regrettably, the Illinois Supreme Court recently held this exemption invalid for 1971 taxes, payable this spring.

Since the matter of the 1972 exemption is still in doubt, I believe the General Assembly should act swiftly to restore this needed help for our older citizens.

Similarly, the General Assembly should also reenact the present exemption from personal property taxation for one auto and household of furniture.

Here again, the future action of the court is uncertain, and legislators should act swiftly to protect our taxpayers.

A few days ago, a local newsman told me that some taxpayers in his area blame me for the unfavorable homestead exemption decision of the Illinois Supreme Court.

If I hadn't spent quite a few years in public office, I would be amazed that people could come to such a conclusion.

But long experience has taught me that many people lump all government officials together, and assume that each is responsible for the actions of the other.

In the case of a governor and the highest court in the state, such a cozy arrangement would be unconstitutional as well as unthinkable.

This column is not intended to be political, but I think it's fair to point out that the Illinois Supreme Court has four Democratic judges and only three Republicans.

But some people, I suppose, are bound and determined to find someone to blame in their frustration over taxes.

That's why I am hopeful we can restore the people's right to abolish the personal property tax on individuals in the forthcoming appeal to the United States Supreme Court.

The vote was clear enough — more than 7 to 1 in favor of getting rid of this hated tax on individuals.

This overwhelming vote was invalidated by the Illinois Supreme Court, in a decision I have heartily criticized in my brief to the United States Supreme Court.

As a lawyer—and as one who believes strongly in upholding the integrity of our courts — I can and have opposed that decision in every way properly possible.

If I am unfairly blamed for the decision I oppose, I'll just have to assume that it's part of the job of being governor.

State Making Study Of Teaching Quality

Copley News Service

Springfield — The ability to scramble an egg does not alone make a Cordon Blue chef, and the office of the state school superintendent is beginning to suspect that the ability to show up for classes and pass the final examination may not automatically make a teacher, either.

Presently, a special task force appointed by Supt. Michael J. Bakalis is making a six-month study of Illinois teacher certification procedures.

The upshot is expected to be expanded and tightened methods for finding out if a teacher not only learned his own lessons, but can in turn teach them to his students.

The 15-member Task Force is drafting its fifth version of an initial report identifying the problem areas. This is expected to reach Bakalis' desk by early May.

The next stage will be to set up a program of implementation, and therein may lie the rub, since it will not only affect future teachers still in the classroom themselves, but also apply to teachers in the field, including some who have been in the field a long time.

Some of these may not take kindly to the idea of being re-evaluated, at what must seem like this late date, on their skills. Re-evaluation may even be set up on a recurring basis, rather like drivers' license examinations.

The whole idea, says Vito C. Bianco, assistant superintendent of the department of professional relations and services in Bakalis' office, is to upgrade the quality of education being imparted in the classroom, and to "guarantee to the public that the teacher in the Illinois classroom has been evaluated not only on the courses he took, but on his performance in the classroom in imparting that knowledge."

Each student in an educational major at some time puts in his required time "student teaching." But this provides only the most rudimentary experience in a classroom situation, Bianco says.

Like most states with a sudden surplus of teachers, Illinois can easily afford to tighten its standards and still have a plentiful market from which to pick.

Presently, Bianco said, there are about 115,000 teachers in Illinois, and education schools and departments graduated another 16,000 last year alone.

That figure is expected to decline somewhat as freshmen realize that there is no longer a crying, ready market for teachers.

But Bianco doesn't expect it to drop much in the next two or three years, as students already in educational majors decide to stick with their initial choices, rather than lose time and incur additional expense by, in effect, starting over in some other speciality.

The program to tighten up certification procedures, Bianco acknowledges, will hinge entirely on acceptance by teachers themselves.

If they can be made to see why better certification benefits them, he said, the program will succeed.

To this end, support is being sought from such professional groups as the Illinois Education Association, the Illinois Federation of Teachers, school administrators, college educators and the state certification board.

Once the problem is localized, and agreement reached on what is to be done, Bianco acknowledges that the biggest problem will still lie ahead for the implementation group — deciding who is going to do the evaluating, who will be competent, uninvolved personally and acceptable to the teachers.

Production of Steel At Ten-Month High

Domestic steel production climbed to its highest level in 10 months during March, the American Iron and Steel Institute has announced.

U. S. mills poured 11,578,000 tons of steel in March, a gain of nearly 1.6 million tons over February and the biggest one-month steel output since the 12,920,000 tons produced last May.

The industry's March performance boosted total steel production for the first quarter of 1972 to 31,559,000 tons. In the comparable period of last year, a time strongly influenced by hedgebuying against the possibility of an industry-wide strike, steel production totaled 34,793,000 tons.

During March, the basic oxygen furnace continued to reinforce its dominance as the paramount steelmaking process. BOFs poured 6,430,000 tons of steel—more than they produced in March 1971 during the hedge-buying boom. Open hearth output in March 1972 was 3,094,000 tons, while electric furnaces poured 2,054,000 tons during the month.

Forthe first quarter of the year, oxygen furnaces made 17,483,000 tons of steel compared to 8,375,000 tons for open hearths and 5,701,000 tons for electric furnaces.

In the same period of 1971, BOFs poured 17,240,000 tons of steel. Open hearth production in the first quarter of last year was 11,793,000 tons, while electric furnaces made 5,761,000 tone.

Last reported employment total was 452,335.

Community-Based Programs Help Patients In Coping With Their Emotional Problems

By BOB ESTILL
Copley News Service

Springfield — A major increase proposed for mental health funding, spotlighted by the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, would be used to provide services for 15,000 Illinoisans.

The state chamber recommended that the legislature take a "long, hard look' at several areas of spending, including a sizable hike requested by the Mental Health Department for its grants-in-aid and purchase-of-care programs.

Basically, the grants program is used to aid community clinics and programs, while the second program is used to buy services in nursing or shelter care for individuals.

Last year, the department received $25.6 million for grants. It plans to spend $21.61 million of that sum before the 1972 fiscal year ends June 30. The department is asking $30.56 million for the grant program for 1973.

The department expects to spend $34.69 million of its $37.47 million purchase care appropriation for 1972 and is asking $47.77 million for 1973.

Robert Lanier, special assistant to Mental Health Director Dr. Albert Glass, said the grant increase reflects progress since the 1960s to remove from institutions persons who could benefit more by remaining in their communities and receiving help through local clinics and programs.

The grant fund increase will mean, among other things, that the number of outpatients in state-aided clinics can be hiked from 66,000 in 1972 to 77,500 persons in 1973.

The figures don't include 31,000 outpatients served by the department's own system in 1972 or the 35,000 expected to receive outpatient treatment at the state centers and institutions in 1973.

The department now is aiding 210 community clinics and day care centers, and has applications from 45 new facilities for 1973.

Also in the proposed budget is a $2.35 million commitment to construct mental retardation facilities and community health centers.

Lanier said in 1972 the state is paying about 40% of the cost of the local efforts, with community organizations making up the difference. He said the communities are gradually increasing their contributions. The community-based facilities also receive limited federal money.

Both human and fiscal benefits are obtained by the shift to community-based programs, he said.

When removed from the family and community, a person can become too easily dependent on an institution, where his problems are removed and he doesn't have to face them.

With short-term intensive community care, the person perhaps can learn to cope costly long-term institutionalization.

However, the shift to the community programs hasn't brought a comparative decrease in the number of people in state institutions. There are 19,000 inpatients and that number is expected to drop only to 17,400 in 1973.

Lanier said the drop might have been greater if all the state institutions had been fully staffed initially. But they weren't and are still "playing catch-up."

On the purchase-of-care program, the $47.7 million requested budget would mean the state could buy care for 13,072 persons in 1973, or 4,000 more persons than now.

Lanier said the increase is due to the steady increase in the geriatric transfer program in which the state provides financial help to transfer elderly persons from institutions to nursing and shelter care facilities.

Annual Assembly Sessions Seen as Mixed Blessing

By KEN WATSON
Copley News Service

Springfield — Annual sessions of the Illinois Legislature — a blessing or a curse?

Are they an unavoidable necessity or merely a device to further fleece the taxpayers?

In this hectic election year of 1972, the discussion has reached a new high of interest and will undoubtedly be continued during the April-June session as the legislators wrestle with a crowded calendar of bills and attempt to hammer out a new yearly budget.

Many legislators feel that they shouldn't be in Springfield at all this year. The vast majority, seeking re-election, believe that whatever transpires cannot help but hurt them in the fall campaign.

Veterans among the lawmakers look back fondly to the old days when the legislature met only on a biennial basis.

The six-month session in the odd-numbered years was followed by a long, 18-month hiatus from Springfield, during which the legislators could pursue their private careers without interruption and, if they wished, campaign for re-election without being put on the spot by controversial votes at the Capitol.

Springfield's Sen. G. William Horsley has pending before the current legislature a resolution which would provide for a return to biennial sessions through adoption of an amendment to the new constitution.

Horsley's move was far from an isolated protest. He was encouraged not only by a number of individual legislators, but some of the leadership as well, including Democrats.

Horsley's move is presently stalled in the Senate Executive Committee and he doesn't intend to push it at the spring session, believing such an effort would be futile.

He does not say so publicly, but Horsley is known to feel that one reason his resolution was side-tracked was because of influence by Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley. The mayor, it is recognized, has improved Chicago's bargaining power under annual sessions and would like to see them continue.

In advocating a return to the every-two-years schedule, Horsley expresses the views of many veteran legislators, who have become disillusioned by the annual meetings. He adds, "A lot of them are copping out financially."

Horsley's views are shared in large measure by Sen. John Gilbert, R-Carbondale, a veteran member of the Senate, who is not seeking re-election. He says the annual sessions were a contributing factor in his decision.

Gilbert and Horsley share a belief that the character of the legislature is changing, that too many men may be leaving and the legislator of his future may be a different type than its predecessor.

However, a less pessimistic view of the legislative future is expressed by another outgoing senator, knowledgeable Robert Coulson of Waukegan, an assistant Republican floor leader.

Coulson says he is stepping out chiefly because his district is so distant from Springfield that he loses too much time from his law practice in frequent commuting.

He feels that whether able men decide on a legislative career will depend on "whether they have the incentive or not." Coulson considers the present rate of pay high enough, even in light of the time the legislative process now requires.

Any prospect that the Illinois legislature will ever return to the biennial schedule, is remote. The national trend is the other way.

About 40 of the 50 states now meet every year, and some of the others resort to "continuous" meetings, coming back on call to deal with matters left over from the odd-year meeting.

Early Morning Explosion, Fire Cause Vast Damage, Injuries

DEVASTATION from a mammoth explosion and fire in the 800 block of Madison Avenue, Madison, early Tuesday morning.

At upper left is part of the wreckage after the flames had been extinguished by firefighters. At upper right is the scene as it appeared during the predawn period, when the blaze engulfed several dwellings, and brilliantly lighted the neighborhood.

At right is another view during the height of the fire, with flames silhouetting the burning structures and also several firemen.

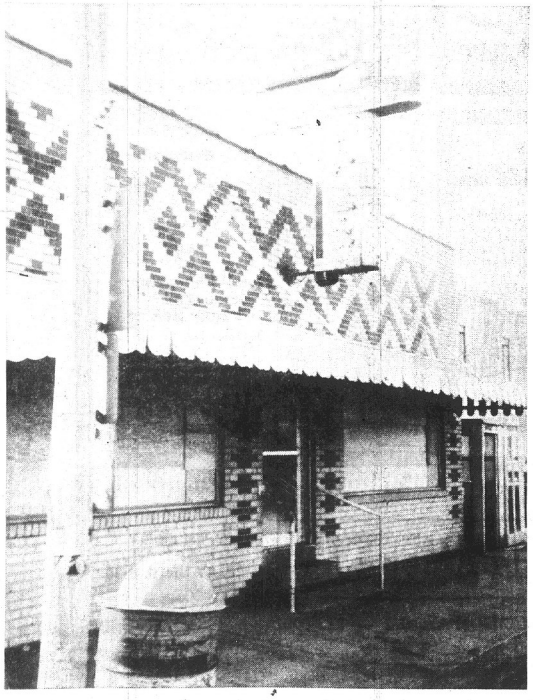

Below that is a picture of the front of the Union Coal and Feed Co., 1414 Seventh St., a considerable distance from the site of the explosion. Its broken windows were boarded up Tuesday morning along with those at many other buildings and at homes.

The photograph at left shows the residential structure where the most damage occurred; the blast destroyed everything but part of the foundation and basement wall, filling the remains of the building with rubble.

At lower left is another boarded-up structure, the Busy Bee Bakery, 806 Madison Ave., across the street from the scene of the explosion and fire.

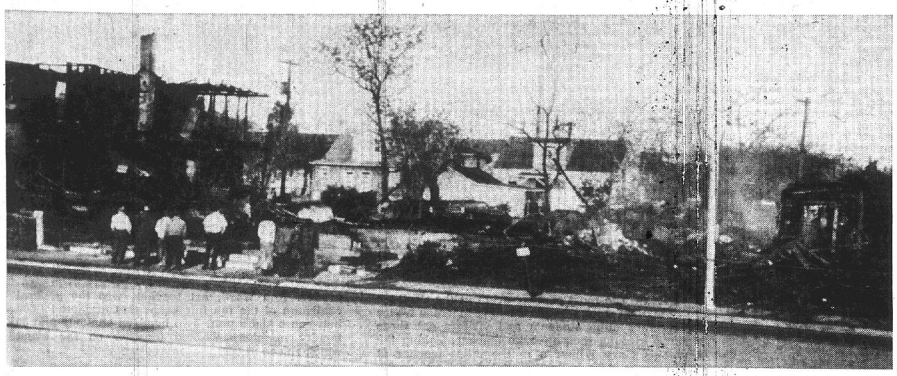

At lower right is a general view of the blast and fire scene Tuesday morning, looking toward the north from Madison Avenue.

PANORAMIC VIEW of the scene of Tuesday's destructive explosion and fire in the 800 block of Madison Avenue, Madison. In the center is where the house at 813 Madison once stood. It was destroyed by the blast, which set fire to homes on both sides and also damaged buildings beyond them in both directions.

RECALLING THE TRAGEDY, George Dunlap, 817 Madison Ave., Madison discusses how he awoke to find his bedroom door and window and a large amount of rubble laying on him. He assisted his aunt, Mrs. Sara Roberts, from the home and police helped him bring his invalid mother, Mrs. Ida Lazenby, outside. "I didn't know if we were going to make it across the street because of the intense heat," he said. At left is Mrs. Betty Chrusciel.

EXPLOSION AFTER-MATH. Madison firemen continued to extinguish smouldering rubble until 11 a.m. Tuesday after an explosion at shortly after 2 a.m. destroyed several homes in the 800 block of Madison Avenue.

The basement of a vacant duplex at 811 and 813 Madison Avenue is the location where officials believe the explosion originated.

First report of the blast was from a Madison police officer on routine patrol in an auto in the vicinity of Tenth Street and Madison Avenue. He felt a huge explosion, looked toward the 800 block and saw a ball of flame shooting 500 feet or more into the air.

The explosion had such impact that the left side of Police Car 13 was lifted from the pavement momentarily. When the patrolman reached the explosion scene, the house at 813 Madison Avenue was completely gone and homes on either side were afire.

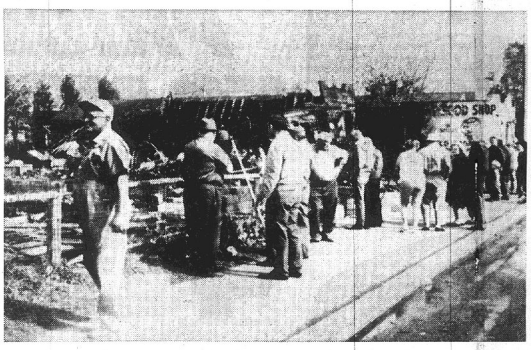

Police, firemen and ambulances were summoned and the task of assisting occupants from their homes was started. Off-duty police also rushed to the scene, and a patrolman and a fireman were among the large group of persons sustaining injuries as a result of the explosion and fire.

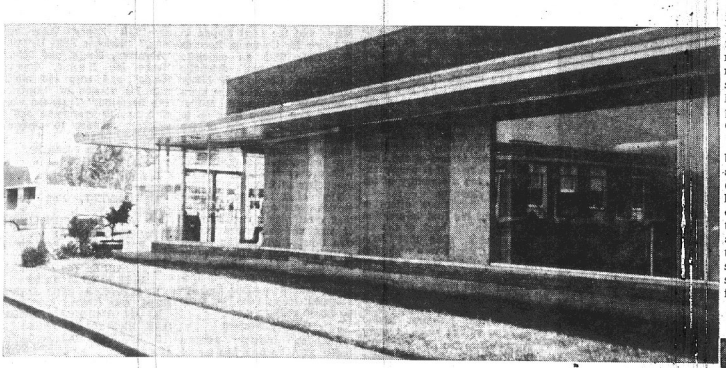

CLEAN-UP OPERATIONS began shortly after the Tuesday morning blast and fire in Madison. Employes of the J & M Petrol Fina service station, 801 Madison Ave., began sweeping up glass and other debris at 4 a.m. The explosion and blaze demolished residential structures in the same block as the station. The blast shortly after 2 a.m. momentarily lifted the side of a police car cruising nearby.

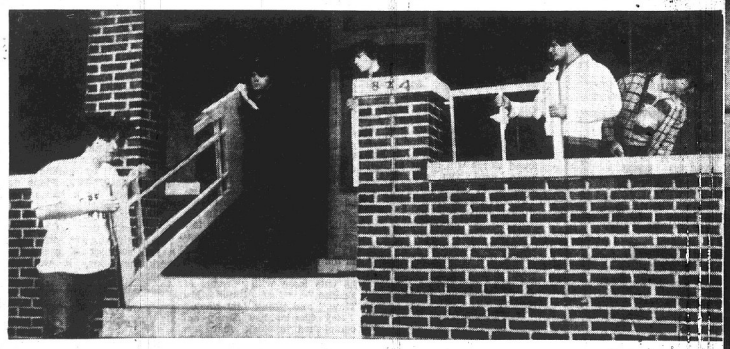

HIT BY WINDOW WHILE ASLEEP. Window frame and broken glass fell on Bill Fox, 18, who was sleeping in the front bedroom of his home at 814 Madison Ave. Fox immediately called police, made sure his mother and grandmother were safe, and then rushed outside and rendered assistance to victims of the blast and fire. The Eagle Scout is vice-president of Explorer Post 10-4.

INTERESTED SPECTATORS jam the sidewalk next to a traffic snarl in the 800 block of Madison Avenue in Madison Tuesday morning following the explosion and fire which destroyed homes and caused damage to numerous other buildings.

SHOCK WAVES from Tuesday's blast apparently bounced off the brick building on the Sixth Street side opposite the First National Bank in Madison and broke the bank's large plate glass windows. The blast occurred early Tuesday in the 800 block of Madison Avenue, two and a half blocks away from the bank.

EXPLORERS HELP. Members of Explorer Post 10-4, sponsored by the Madison Police and Madison Lions Club, helped clean up debris Tuesday morning. Working at the home of Bill Fox, 814 Madison Ave., vice-president of the post, the Explorers are, from left to right; William Weidner and Fox carrying part of a storm door that the explosion blew off, and Jerry Nizinski, Terry Sasyk and Randy Graville. The Fox home, located directly across Madison Avenue from the blast, suffered extensive damage to both the exterior and interior.

MADISON COUNTY SHERIFF John Maeras center and several deputies assisting Madison police at Tuesday's explosion and fire in Madison. In addition to the entire Madison police department, officers from Venice and Granite City and state police assisted with crowd control and traffic. The overall police activity was directed by Frank Datko, chief of police in Madison.

Belleville College to Celebrate 25th Year

Belleville Area College will celebrate its 25th anniversary with a banquet at Augustine's tomorrow and dedication ceremonies Sunday at the main campus, 2500 Carlyle Road, Belleville.

The college looks back to a history of 20 years under the name of Belleville Junior College. The Board of Education, District 201, established the college in September 1946 in conjunction with Belleville Township High School. The first graduating class, June 1948, numbered 48.

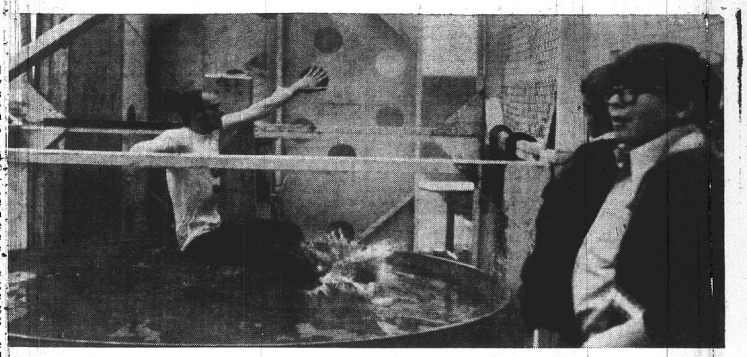

The college grew both in size and influence, expanding the curriculum, enlarging the evening program, initiating summer sessions and adding occupation programs.

In 1967, the college became a Class I institution, operated by its own board, District 522, and charged its name to Belleville Area College, which now has an enrollment of 5,120.

Keynote speaker for the banquet is Dr. Joseph P. Cosand, deputy commissioner for higher education, U. S. Office of Education, Washington, D. C. His topic will be "The Community—The Cutting Edge in Higher Education."

Dedication and open house ceremonies will be held at 2 p.m. May 7 on the main campus. Dr. Fred Wellman, executive secretary of the Illinois Junior College Board, will be the dedication speaker.

Belleville Area College District 522 encompasses the school districts of Belleville, Dupo, O'Fallon, Lebanon, Wasecoutah, Freeburg, New Athens, Marissa and Cahokia. The college also serves students in fringe areas surrounding the district.

Author-Historian Says

Black Leader Debates Nothing New in History

The current debate between American blacks advocating separatism against those advocating integration is largely a recapitulation of black history since 1890, author-historian Harold Cruse said Monday (May 1) at Southern Illinois University-Southwestern.

Cruse said the debate must be seen as an historical continuum before it can be resolved and black leaders move forward to a consensus.

Cruse, author of the book "The Crisis of the Negro Intellectual" and director of the Center for the Study of African and Afro-American History at the University of Michigan said the freedom rides, sit-ins and more militant civil rights tactics of the 1960s were nothing new, though many participants and chroniclers of the events considered the tactics revolutionary.

"The black movements in the 1960s were nothing more than a recapitulation in one form or another of everything that had been said before," Cruse said. "Those in the movements may not have been aware of the historical origins of their slogans, but that doesn't change their debts to history."

Tracing the clash of the separatist and integrationist ideologies from the formation of the Afro-American League in 1890, through the founding of the NAACP and the Urban League, the Booker T. Washington-W.E.B. DuBois debates, the militant nationalist organization of Marcus Garvey based in Harlem and other movements, Cruse said American blacks today have a heritage of double consciousness: Whether to integrate with society or become separatist.

"But these two terms are catchwords now, words without real meaning," Cruse said. "These categories that hang us up should be dispensed with, because both sides have had their say. A historical understanding would allow current political leaders to move forward." Cruse mentioned divisions among American black leaders at a recent caucus in Gary, Ind., as evidence that the catchwords still are getting in the way of progress.

Cruse said black studies programs in universities can help overcome "a state of mind that I call historical discontinuity—I've been shocked how surprisingly little is known, among blacks or anyone else, of major black figures between 1890 and World War II."

Such gaps in knowledge call for new approaches to black studies, said Cruse, brought to the University of Michigan in 1968 in what he termed "the throes of institutions trying to establish black studies programs."

Cruse said black history must be considered part of the American experience, not something that can stand alone.

"Despite the seemingly separatist thrust of black studies programs, this is only a temporary phenomenon, while we extract black studies from the whole cloth and develop fresh viewpoints," he said. "We know for sure that black studies can't be seen apart from the whole of American culture."

John Prine Sings of Tragedy and Bliss

By JUDY HUGG
Copley News Service

John Prine, he's that young newcomer that writes his music with the wisdom of an old man and sings it like a virile champion of the common man.

John's album, "John Prine," on the Atlantic label is a subtly titled introduction to a dynamic, thinking man whose words go from your brain to your heart, express route.

John, like many artists, sings of the tragedy and of the electric blissfulness that people experience, but the reality of his music is stunning.

Kris Kristofferson offers a glimpse of his first impression of John on the back of the album jacket. Kris met John Prine in Chicago in a nightclub at closing time. Well, a few of them stuck around after hours to hear John sing.

Kris's impression? "It must have been like stumbling onto Dylan when he first busted onto the village scene. I don't know where he comes from, but I've got a good idea where he's going." The truth is, you've got to hear John to believe him.

"Illegal Smile"

Glancing through the album, there seems to be a song for just about everyone. "Your Flag Decal Won't Get You Into Heaven Anymore" has become very popular on FM airwaves; "Illegal Smile" is a folly on grass; "Spanish Dancer" already has been re-recorded on John Denver's latest album which attests to the song's potential; "Pretty Good" is a very funny song, but you'll have to buy the album to hear this one; "Hello In There" is a song about the loneliness of old people that tends to tear at your heart strings, and "Sam Stone" is a song whose profound words will linger in your brain until you can finally think about something else.

This is just a sampling of an album that will take your thoughts off whatever they were on. The haunting simplicity of John's guitar and occasional down-home, toe-tapping music supports the wisdom of the lyrics and makes the platter an experience in American reality.

The album also includes a word sheet of the songs and you'll probably want to learn them as soon as you can. John Prine is quite a guy.

Classical Side

On The Classical Side: Brazilian pianist Nelson Freire is a busy young man. Since he made his New York debut in 1971, the 27-year-old has toured South America, Europe and Asia — hitting most of the world's major cities.

But he paused long enough in his concert dash to record the Chopin Sonata No. 3 in B Minor and the Liszt Sonata in B Minor for Columbia Records (M-31128). With an exquisite melodic line and dramatic harmonies, Chopin's B Minor Sonata is the equal of the more commonly performed B-Flat Minor. And Freire lives up to his reputation as one of the world's greatest young pianists with a performance that merges extreme technical skill with a deep feeling for the romanticism of Chopin.

The Liszt sonata demonstrates once again how much that great pianist and composer was underestimated in his own time. The audience jeered at its premiere in 1857. Yet in this sonata Liszt pointed the way toward innovations in thematic transformations that influenced generations of composers to come.

Country Western

Attention country western buffs: RCA Records has turned loose of two new albums, one by Connie Smith and the other by George Hamilton IV. Connie's LP entitled "Ain't We Havin Us a Good Time?" includes her recent chart buster "Just for What I Am." She also lends her throaty, vibrant voice to "I Know You're Going Away," "If We Want Love To Last" and the title tune.

For those not familiar with Miss Smith, she hails from Ohio, where up until a few years ago her performances consisted of PTA meetings and square dances. However, in a few short years the petite blonde has amassed a long list of credits that include her being added as a regular on the Grand Ole Opry, several movies and being named "Best Vocalist," in the country western field, in 1966.

George Hamilton IV, who ranks among the top C&W artists, does a bang-up job on his new LP, "Country Music In My Soul." He is one of the few singers who have gone "country" after enjoying a major hit in the pop fields of pop and folk come through on this album as he cuts loose with "Streets of London," "Just Bidin' My Time," and "Ain't Life Easy."

Ray Charles has finally accomplished a task that has been on his mind for some 20 years. It's an album called "A Message From The People" on the ABC label. For many years Ray searched for just the right type of songs and the perfect musicians. There's not much one can say about an album such as this because it's just another of Ray's wonderful accomplishments.

The monumental effort that went into the making of the LP comes through as Ray puts his heart and soul into such songs as "Life Every Voice and Sing," "Heaven Help Us All," "Abraham, Martin and John," "Take Me Home, Country Roads" and ends the album with his version of "America The Beautiful." Truly the work of a master craftsman and a welcome addition to anyone's collection.

Health Occupations Field to Open at GCHS

A vocational education program in health occupations will be instituted at Granite City High School in conjunction with St. Elizabeth Hospital during the next school year, according to plans presented by M. A. Wittevrongel, administrative assistant, and approved by the Board of Education Monday night.

It was estimated that 35 to 40 students will participate in a two-part operation encompassing both cooperative and extended classroom types of instruction. An experimental program is being held this year.

If a major part of a student's clinical work is in the performance of a salable service, the program is considered cooperative education, and students receive pay for their services.

If the majority of the time is spent in a learning situation with a small amount of service being incidental to the learning process and not a major objective of the program, it will be extended classroom.

Payable services now are offered in training of unit clerks, while operating room technicians are being trained in the extended classroom program. If a complete program is incorporated, use of hospital facilities will be used for the following training:

Operating room technician, emergency room technician, orthopedic technician, physical therapy clerk, inhalation therapy, occupational therapy clerk, dietary stockroom clerk, medical records, x-ray, laboratory, unit clerk, nurse aides, housekeeping aides aides and maintenance men.

A coordinator of health occupations and related services will be responsible for the development and coordination of classroom and clinical activities.

Student selection will depend on parental approval, proper associated class schedule and credits, scholastic achievements to fit requirements and interviews with hospital and school personnel.

Final selection is to be made jointly by hospital and school personnel. Student progress and opportunity to continue in off-campus programs will depend on their:

Making satisfactory progress in learning special skills, willingness to follow implicitly hospital procedures, faculty for providing concerned patient care and ability to adjust to close supervision.

The salary of the coordinator will be about $8,900 per year if there is a full load of 35 to 40 students. In regular classes the school will furnish laboratory facilities, equipment and supplies. In the cooperative program the hospital will furnish facilities.

Wittevrongel estimated that federal and state reimbursement would be at least $50 per credit, or $4,000 per year for a full load. It means $100 per student for a half day (three hours) of instruction, he said.

A legal agreement for the program is to be drawn between the school district and the hospital.

Student Council Asks Shelter for Walkway

A request by the Student Council at Granite City High School for a walkway shelter from the high school to the Coolidge Junior High School annex was taken into consideration by the Board of Education Monday night, but action in the near future is not expected.

The Student Council maintained that the unsheltered walkway constitutes a health and safety hazard to students and faculty during inclement weather.

The request failed to receive the recommendation of the administration. Supt. B. J. Davis commented: "Inclement weather is something we live with."

Members of the board discussed the expense and the necessity of the facility after construction of the new high school which will ease conditions at the old high school.

Monroe Worthen suggested that the board give the matter some study, including a change in utilization of the annex which will occur with the opening of the new high school in the fall of 1973.

The council in a letter to the board realized that the new school could alleviate high school utilization of the annex but argued that "there is no concrete guarantee that the investment will be unnecessary for three reasons:

"First, one must consider the time required to build the high school in light of the potential harms caused by lack of the shelter during that period. Second, individuals will still pass between Coolidge and high school on various errands. And third, the possibility of future use of Coolidge as the high school population continues to increase within Granite City."

The council said it has received hundreds of complaints from students, teachers and parents of falls and minor injuries on slippery walkways, colds and flu viruses stemming from the mandatory campus passage, in addition to damage to books, clothes and hair.

"Students lingering between classes because of unusually bad weather are only doubly subjected to hazardous conditions when sent back to retreve tardy slips," the council noted.

A. degree from Fontbonne, no experience, for home economics at Central Junior High School and Larry R. King, 33, of 2121 Illinois Ave., no degree, no experience, for vocational wood shop at Granite City High School.

Custodians Hired

Following hour-long closed deliberations, the board also hired six custodians:

Richard Duff, 3104 Willow Ave., and William Schnefke, 1553 Rodger Ave., effective May 2; Glen Romine, 2917 Oregon Ave., effective June 5; and Harry Fryntzko, 2622 State St., Richard Hargrove, 2221 Bryan Ave., and Donald Schutzenhofer, 2201 Delmar Ave., effective July 5.

The board accepted the resignation of Richard Anderson, custodian at Prather Junior High School, effective June 2, to take employment with the Madison County Sheriff's Department.

An extension of leave of absence through the 1972-73 school year was granted to Janie Patton, a school secretary.

The board established the position of principal for the new high school to open in the fall of 1973. He is to begin his duties on July 3 of this year and will head a steering committee for school preparations. The position is to be posted with the district staff.

Engineers Halt City Interceptor Planning

Engineering work on interceptor sewer lines proposed for construction by Granite City in conjunction with its secondary sewage treatment program has been halted by M. W. Inc., special engineers for the city's sewer program, the engineering firm has notified the Tri-City Taxpayers Public Expenditures Survey Group.

In a letter to Howard Schuneke, president of the taxpayers group, the M. W. engineering firm also announced that planning for Granite City's sewage treatment plant, along with facilities for stormwater treatment, is more than 50% complete.

The letter, a copy of which was presented to members of the city council Monday night, was in response to an inquiry by the taxpayers group as to whether the engineers were continuing with interceptor planning for the city in the face of approval of plans for the four-township sewer program which includes provisions for interceptor lines.

Text of Letter

Signed by Aaron A. Pierson, vice-president of the St. Louis firm, the letter said:

"The engineering for the secondary treatment plant and including stormwater treatment (from the remaining area still using combined storm sanitary sewers) is continuing and is more than 50% completed. The capacity of this plant is not presently being reduced due to the undetermined future of the operation of the Corn Sweeteners, Inc. plant.

"This situation could be resolved by the time construction bids are advertised. If the plant flow is to be greatly reduced, certain items of equipment or structures could be reduced in number and their installation postponed until needed in the future.

"The Township versus the City plan for interceptors remaining unresolved, no further engineering work is currently being performed on these interceptors.

"The preliminary sizing of the interceptors in the city plan and their routing anticipate an additional capacity of approximately 100,000 population equivalent. The present primary plant flow is approximately 200,000 population equivalent, so this plan allows for about 50% increase for the area to be served in the next 20 years.

Optimistic Projection

"This is a much more optimistic area growth projection than the 'four township' plan since it is our understanding that it is sized for approximately 60,000 population equivalent. Therefore, comparing estimated cost based on preliminary sizing of interceptors is misleading. It is also much cheaper to build large enough the first time than to add additional lines at a later date.

"There are no "tax monies" as such being utilized on this project. The city's portion of the financing is 20%, with the balance coming from state and federal grants. The city's financing will be revenue bonds. The revenue is to be based on a fair treatment charge proportional to the quantity of flow, BOD, and suspended solids.

"Our current engineering work is limited to that necessary to comply with the recent state pollution requirements.

"The mayor and city council have not always moved as quickly as we would wish, but they certainly have made every reasonable effort to limit the rate and amount of expenditures to the best interest of the taxpayers.

NEW HOSPITAL TEAM, the Intravenous Therapy Team of St. Elizabeth Hospital, adds medication to I.V. Fluids under a new Laminar Air Flow Hood. The hood continuously filters the air to keep airborn bacteria in the working area at a minimum. From left, David E. Davis, assistant chief pharmacist; Mrs. Beatrice Harlan, R.N., who is in charge of the program, and Sister Mary Benedict, chief pharmacist at the hospital.

Therapy Team Provides New Hospital Service

A new service at St. Elizabeth Hospital is that of adding drugs to intravenous fluids (fluids given directly into a patient's veins). A team of registered nurses, with Mrs. Beatrice Harlan, R.N. in charge, and known as the I. V. Therapy Team, administers the intravenous medications.

Mrs. Harlan's I. V. Team is a part of Pharmacy Services. Sister Mary Benedict is Chief Pharmacist of the hospital pharmacy.

The air contains many thousands of microscopic particles which are invisible to the naked eye. Many bacteria become airborne and the transported about in the air by clinging to these particles, it was explained. Since these intravenous fluids are given directly into a patient's vein, it is necessary to add drugs to these fluids in an environment as free from contamination as possible; which is done in the Pharmacy I. V. additive room with the use of a Laminar Air Flow Hood.

The laminar flow concept is to produce a bank of air moving through a work area at just the proper speed to sweep contamination with it while creating a minimum of air turbulence. The hood has a static pressure gauge which indicates when to change the HEPA (high efficiency particulate air) filter. As an added assurance, the laboratory at the hospital takes periodic bacterial cleanliness tests of the hood.

According to Assistant Chief Pharmacist David E. Davis, "We are employing these latest technologies plus periodic testing and the I. V. team concept to insure that the I. V. therapy of patients at St. Elizabeth Hospital will be as safe as humanly possible."

Bill Would Permit Vote on Dual Jobs by Legislators

Rep. George W. Lindberg (R-Crystal Lake) has introduced a resolution in the Illinois House of Representatives which, if adopted by the House and Senate, would give the people of Illinois the right to decide the fate of the controversial practice of governmental "double-dipping."

Lindberg, sponsor of Illinois' new ethics law, noted that if the resolution is adopted, the voters could decide in the general election next November whether or not they want to amend the Illinois Constitution to exclude dual-office holding by members of the General Assembly.

The anti-double-dipping provision which was included in Lindberg's original ethics bill did not receive the necessary support when proposed last fall. Members of the General Assembly defeated the provision which was included in the prohibited activities section of the bill because it would have prevented many of them from working for units of local government, while at the same time serving as members of the General Assembly.

Lindberg, Republican candidate for State Comptroller, said that members of the General Assembly, "simply cannot serve two masters." "They cannot, in good conscience, serve the people of Illinois as members of the General Assembly while at the same time holding appointive office which are under the control of a powerful political machine."

Wants Referendum

Lindberg added, "The potential for conflict of interest under such conditions is so great that I feel I simply can't drop the matter of double-dipping without giving the people of Illinois a chance to express their views on the subject."

"As of last year, there were over thirty members of the legislature holding dual jobs and at least one of them received a salary of some $27,000 dollars from the city of Chicago along with $17,500 dollars earned as a State Representative. Including legislative expenses of $6,000 dollars a year, that brought his total income to over $50,000 dollars a year... and it was the Illinois taxpayer who payed it."

"I am hopeful that the Democratic members of the General Assembly will allow a constitutional amendment vote on the matter of dual office holding and in so doing, provide Illinois citizens with the opportunity to voice their opinion."

The amendment resolution introduced by Lindberg will require the support of three-fifths of the members elected to each House of the General Assembly if it is to be adopted and placed on a separate ballot in November.

However, it will require only a simple majority for ratification by the voters.

According to Lindberg, the amendment would go into effect six months after ratification.

RATTLESNAKE HUNTER. Robert "Cole" Younger displays one of his prize trophies captured at the annual rattlesnake roundup in Okeene, Okla. The reptile is a Western Diamondback and is noted for its poisonous venom.

Robert Younger Back from Annual Rattlesnake Hunt

By DONNA HARTWICK
Press-Record Staff Writer

Hunting is a sport enjoyed by many men and some women, but the rattlesnake hunt attracts a particular kind of sportsman who realizes the hunt is really dangerous.

Robert "Cole" Younger, Rural Route Four, Edwardsville, each year attends the annual Jaycee rattlesnake roundup in Okeene, Okla., about 100 miles west of Oklahoma City. He returned last week from this year's hunt.

The three-day event attracts about 500 hunters who compete for the two top trophies that are given for the largest snake and the snake that weighs the most. Highlighting the affair, which is held two weeks after Easter every year, is the rattlesnake dinner and crowning of the queen.

More than 15,000 spectators attend the festival each year to watch "milking" demonstrations and the presentation of trophies.

Sold to Laboratories

Snakes are caught in a loop on the end of a pole and no guns are allowed. They primarily are caught for use by laboratories which use the venom for research, and for snake farms which but them at auction. The hunters also sell the snake meat and hides.

"I usually keep four to six of the snakes for at least a month so I can experiment with them," Younger said. The Western Diamondbacks are kept in cages and when I let them out I test each one as to high they can strike, he added.

Younger also has given demonstrations for area residents on milking the venom. After he is finished with his experiments, Younger kills the snakes and either uses the meat or sells it and the hides.

An employe of Granite City Steel Co. for the past 24 years, he is a machine operator in the Cold Strip Mill.

Widely known in the area as a fast-draw artist, Younger presents demonstrations of trick shooting at homecomings, picnics and other holiday gatherings. He is scheduled to appear May 19 at the Homecoming Show at Roxana.

Ralph Burnett, 2535 Benton St., reported during the week St., reported during the weekend an attempted burglary at his home. He told police he discovered a screw driver and bit lying between the storm door and front door. The door had been pried open but no entry was made.

Kenneth Graham, 49, of East St. Louis, was arrested this week at 2113 rear Delmar Ave. on a disorderly conduct charge. The complaint was signed by Kathy Lassen.

Emergency State Appropriations Will Be Necessary This Spring

Copley News Service

Springfield — Even though Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie's proposed budget for fiscal 1973, which starts July 1, calls for spending of $6.4 billion, the current General Assembly will have to appropriate money to get the state through in some areas until then.

For instance, the General Assembly will be asked to appropriate $135 million on an emergency basis to help carry the state through on public welfare costs. This money will be used to help pay the mounting costs of welfare in Illinois.

The General Assembly is expected to approve the money, but not without first complaining very loudly.

But welfare costs have been mounting. For the calendar year of 1971, the number of persons receiving some form of welfare increased by 204,542, going from 729,844 to 934,356. With a population of 11 million, this means that about one person in 12 got some type of welfare benefit.

Then there is a matter of $25 million to be used for income tax refunds.

This is the fund where money is taken to repay those persons who have overpaid their state income tax.

More money is needed in the repayment sector, and it will be needed shortly. The Revenue Department has been trying to repay overpayments as fast as possible.

An additional $4.7 million will be needed in the office of State School Supt. Michael J. Bakalis for special education and transportation grants.

The Personnel Department will be needing an additional $4 million to pay state employe health and life insurance premiums.

About $350,000 will be needed to cover costs of hearing transcripts for the Pollution Control Board. State officials will have to And the Industrial Commission needs $150,000.

An additional $150,000 will be needed for vocational rehabilitation.

justify the needed additional funds, but the General Assembly is expected to approve the requests.

Those seeking the additional funds say the money is needed to carry their departments through to July 1. They say the funds are required because expenses came about which were not programmed.

Side of Auto Struck

The right rear side of a car driven by Wayne Sturgeon, St. Louis, was struck by a hit and run vehicle during the weekend at the entrance of Bowland Bowling Lanes, 5050 Nameoki Road.

Vandals Damage Tree

A large sycamore tree on the property of Dale Hyle, 1527 Johnson Road, was damaged by vandals wielding an axe or hatchet the owner reported during the weekend.

Cloverview Hosts District V Workshop

Members of the 14 clubs of District V, Garden Club of Illinois, Inc., were in Granite City in late April to attend an all-day institute. The event was held in the Nameoki Recreational Center with Cloverview Garden Club serving as host club. Mrs. Kenneth Brokaw, president, gave the welcoming address.

The morning session was conducted by Mrs. B. J. Isselhardt, Edwardsville, director of District V. Reports of officers were given, board chairmen were named and club activities were announced for the coming months.

Mrs. Isselhardt reported on the state convention recently held in Chicago. Two members of the district now serving on the state board are Mrs. Earl Glenn, Granite City and Mrs. Stephen Shea of Belleville.

The state president is Mrs. C. M. Tilkemeier of Freeport; national president is Mrs. Maxwell Stell, Huntington, Pa., and Central Region chairman is Mrs. Edwin H. Hewitt, Libertyville, Ill.

Mrs. H. C. Heberer, Mascoutah, distributed State Awards ribbons received at the convention. The following clubs earned blue rosette ribbons for meeting federation requirements both on the state and local levels during the past year: Cloverview, Collinsville, Gardenaires, Garden Study, Lebanon, Mascoutah, St. Clair County, Shiloh Valley and Winstanley. Mascoutah Garden club was the recipient of three awards.

To promote interest in horticulture projects it was voted the district will work with home economists to give 4-H clubs in Madison and St. Clair counties cash awards in contests.

After a recess at noon for a covered dish luncheon a program was presented by Mrs. Carl Hueseman, Collinsville and Mrs. William Klotz, Belleville, on "The New Revised Rules of Flower Arranging." Discussion and explanations were given on the flower arrangements on display — one a capsule table setting, called "Segment Table," and others, "Nature Art and Industry."

Attending from the hostess club were: Mrs. Brokaw, Mrs. William Bradley, Mrs. Richrad Branding, Mrs. John Jenkins, Mrs. Fred Orr, Mrs. B. C. O'Neill, Mrs. George Knapp, Mrs. Robert McCauley, Mrs. John Lentz and Mrs. Terry Deremo.

From the Gardenaires were: Mrs. Earl Glenn, Mrs. Mary Kristian, Mrs. Charles Kohl, Mrs. C. E. Eads and Mrs. William Long and from Garden Study Club, Mrs. George Stearns, Mrs. Robert Blankenship, Mrs. Wilmer Winter, Mrs. Rolla Grewell and Mrs. John Sigite.

Church Women United's Luncheon Friday

Claire Cassidy Condon, noted folk singer, will appear at the Quad-City Church Women United May Fellowship luncheon Friday at the First United Presbyterian Church in Granite City. The affair will begin at 12 noon.

A graduate of Clark University in Worchester, Mass., where she also reecived her master's degree in Music, Mrs. Condon is a former French teacher who left the education field to enter the more competitive areas of radio and concert.

In addition to her university training, she also studied with the Trapp Family Singers, gathering a priceless collection of folk songs from continental Europe, the British Isles, Canada, Mexico and the United States.

While living in New England and later in Tulsa, Okla., she produced her own radio and television shows. At present she has a weekly presentation on a St. Louis radio station in addition to many personal appearances.

"Behold the Woman" is the theme for the luncheon; the program will concern itself with the development of the full potential of women through God.

Mrs. Condon represents a composite of this theme. She has achieved her potential with her music, and she has also undertaken a second and more important career, that of being wife and mother. Her very busy family consists of husband, Chris Condon, a St. Louis television newscaster, and three youngsters, ages 10, 12 and 14.

Mrs. Bernadine Cooley and Mrs. James Henderson are chairmen of the event. Tickets cost $1 each. Guests are asked to bring a salad, at least one for every three persons in attendance.

Child care for pre-school youngsters will be provided without charge.

Posture Poster Winners to Be Honored

Winners in a "Correct Posture Poster Contest," sponsored by the Illinois Chiropractic Society for fifth and sixth grade youngsters in Southern Illinois, will be announced at 7 p.m. today at an awards presentation ceremony at the Tri-Cities Area YMCA.

Dr. E. W. Walton of Granite City, state contest chairman, said many contestants, parents and principals are expected to be on hand to heard the names of the winning entries.

Participants whose work is rated first through fourth place will receive a large trophy. Each of the contestants will be presented a certificate to mark his contribution to the program, Dr. Walton said. "It is hoped that each child has learned that good posture is important to good health," the local chiropractor added.

Making the presentation of awards will be Dr. R. E. Heisner of Fairfield, president of the Illinois Chiropractic Society.

Winning posters from the Southern Illinois District are eligible for state-wide honors, including a prize of $100 U. S. Savings Bond and a large trophy to be donated to the child's school, Dr. Walton noted.

District judges are Marvin VanMetre, executive director of the Tri-Cities Area YMCA, Eugene Aiassi art education consultant for the Granite City School District and past president of the Illinois Art Education Association and Mrs. Valerie Evenden, Press-Record women's editor.

POSTURE POSTER TROPHIES, displayed by Dr. E. W. Walton of Granite City, will be awarded winners in the 'Correct Posture Poster Contest' at 7 p.m. today at the Tri-Cities Area YMCA auditorium. Dr. R. E. Heisner of Fairfield, president of the Illinois Chiropractic Society, will make the presentation. The contest, involving hundreds of grade school children in Southern Illinois was directed by Dr. Walton.

Herman Meyers Observe 66th Year of Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Meyer of Troy Road, Edwardsville, former long-time residents of Granite City, were complimented at a reception and open house this week on the occasion of their 66th wedding anniversary.

The affair was held in the home of a son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Herb (Eunice) Highlander, on Poag Road.

About 75 friends greeted the couple. The Meyers were married April 26, 1902, in Granite City.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Meyer were born and reared in the rural Granite City area. They resided here until 18 years ago.

Prior to retiring in 1949, Mr. Meyer, 92, operated farm property in the Sand Prairie region. He was born in Pontoon Beach and was employed as a butcher before becoming a full-time farmer.

The farm house where Mrs. Meyer, 89, was born still is standing in the Chouteau Slough area. She is the former Ann Willaredt, whose family was among the early pioneers.

Both husband and wife are in good health and spirits, a family spokesman said. They also are the parents of Mrs. Julius (Viola) Vasel of St. Louis.

The couple has eight grandchildren, 19 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild. Two sons, Arnold and Irvin Meyer, died some years ago.

CUB PACK 46 CIRCUS

Cub Pack 46, sponsored by the Nameoki PTA, held a "Circus" with ringmaster Bill Apperson presiding. The gym had been transformed into a circus tent setting, with pennants and flags overhead.

A grand march featured all the costumed scouts, who joined in the pledge of allegiance after Den Six conducted the opening. The gym was in darkness and the flag was spotlighted as "America" was played.

First act was "elephants," portrayed by Den One, directed by the leader, Mrs. Judy Ozier. Mrs. Alice Selpa presented Den Eight in a side-show dance, and a "strongman" demonstration was given by Den Six.

Den Two's "circus band" played and sang under the direction of Mrs. Virginia Nichols, the scouts were dressed in old-time outfits.

A tumbling and gymnastics act was presented by Mrs. Darlene Smith's "acrobats of Den Three, in tights and "muscle shirts."

Mrs. Virginia Apperson and Mrs. Delores Rose appeared as ringmasters and circled the audience, tossing bubblegum and balloons.

The "stilt man of Den Six" performed, followed by Den Five's lion act, complete with a trainer, Mrs. Frances Findley.

"Clown alley" featured Den Seven boys and leaders, Mrs. Apperson and Mrs. Rose. They demonstrated comic "haircuts" and the way to wash clothes.

The cubby award was shared by Dens Three and Seven, which tied with 87% attendance. Bernard Miller announced plans for each den to participate in "parents' weeks" during the summer.

The pack will hold a scout Olympics and watermelon feast in June, and attend a Cardinal baseball game in July. In August, the pack will have a cookout.

Next pack meeting will be a potluck supper May 23 at Wilson Park. Theme will be "America, the Beautiful" and a nature hike will highlight the evening.

Dewight Smith announced plans for a "day camp" offered for cub scouts.

Awards were presented during a candlelight "arrow of light" ceremony. Glen Haggerdy received a wolf badge and gold arrow; Tony Rujawitz, gold and silver arrows under wolf badge; David Apperson, gold arrow under wolf; Scott Keeton, bear badge and gold arrow; and Brian Arnold, silver arrow under bear.

Webelo Den Two activity badges went to Glen Finley and John Davis, athletes; Jeff Vaughn, sportsman and artist; Berry Reiter, sportsman and athlete; Gary Sipole, traveler and geogologist; and Eric Miller, scholar, artist and the Webelo award.

The closing was under the leadership of Den Seven. All the cubs formed a friendship circle and repeated the law of the pack.

NEW HOME PRICES DON'T EVER GO DOWN. DON'T WAIT. BUY BEFORE COSTS GO UP ! ! !
Playing a waiting game is usually wise—except when you put off buying a new home. Inflation keeps pushing prices up—so, the sooner you buy, the more money you save.
Right now, you can own a beautiful family-sized home in Wilson Park Estates for as little as $200.00 down and $102.00 monthly.

Mobile X-Ray Unit In Area May 9-13

The Lewis-Clark Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association's mobile chest x-ray unit will return to the Quad-City area Tuesday, May 9, 10 and 11 at Granite City Steel Co.

The unit will be at Anchorage Apartments, 2909 Edwards St., from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Friday, May 12, and Friday afternoon, May 12 from 3 to 7 p.m. at Bellemore Shopping Center, 3520 Nameoki Road; Saturday, May 13 at Madison Dairy Master, 516 Madison Ave. from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 2 to 5 p.m.

The program is free to area residents 18 years old and over with the exception of pregnant women who will not be x-rayed unless they present written permits from their physicians, according to Mrs. William Barth, executive director.

TB clinic outpatients should not substitute mobile unit chest x-rays for regularly scheduled clinic examinations, she said.

Rabies Clinic May 10

Illinois Power Halts New Gas Heating for Homes, Businesses; Study Supply, Demand

Decatur—Because of demands on its system for additional natural gas, Illinois Power Company announced Monday it has stopped the issuance of permits for new residential space heating and new small commercial space heating in most of the areas it serves.

H. G. Meenen, senior vice-president, said Illinois Power is stopping the issuance of permits to reassess its supply of natural gas in relation to demand.

The stopping of permits for residential space heating and commercial space heating requirements does not affect residences which seek gas for cooking or water heating.

Illinois Power in July 1970 established a system of priorities for meeting demands for natural gas. The five separate priority categories are:

1. Residential space heating and small commercial space heating requirements not exceeding 250,000 Btu per hour.

2. Firm gas requirements not exceeding 1,500,000 Btu per hour.

3. All firm gas requirements exceeding 1,500,000 Btu per hour.

4. All interruptible, seasonal or other non-firm requirements not exceeding 20,000 cubic feet per hour.

5. All interruptible, seasonal and non-firm requirements exceeding 20,000 cubic feet per hour.

Up to now, most priority "One" requests have been met.

Illinois Power found it necessary in 1970 to start controlling its natural gas when federal and state programs to control air pollution increased the demand for natural gas to a point where some priority plan was required because of the limited natural gas supply.

At the same time, the company said the steady price of gas in comparison to the rising costs of other fuels resulted in an increased demand for natural gas as the best and cheapest fuel available.

Illinois Power, as a distributor, draws gas from five pipeline distributors — Natural Gas Pipeline Co. of America, Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co., Mississippi River Transmission Corp., Trunkline Gas Co. and Michigan-Wisconsin Pipe Line Co. Towns receiving gas supplied by the latter will not be afected by Monday's decision.

Asks Children Avoid Playing by Foggers

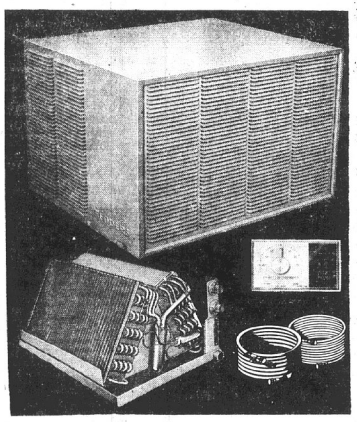

Nameoki township parents were urged by township officials today to warn their children against playing in the vicinity of fogging machines which are now being operated in the township's mosquito abatement program.

Louis Whitsell, township supervisor, pointed out that youngsters are injured in various parts of the area each year by passing motorists who are unable to see the youngsters because of poor visibility. In addition, Whitsell said, it is dangerous to breath too much of any insecticide.

The supervisor said parents are being asked to keep their children away from the fogging equipment during the summer months when fogging is under way.
